U.S.S.R. on Alert

Times News Services

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union has given China an ultimatum — withdraw from Vietnam "before it is too late" — and has reportedly put all its forces on combat standby.

The Soviet government statement stopped short of saying what it would do if China continued its military push into Vietnam, which has a mutual protection treaty with the U.S.S.R.

But all furloughs of the Soviet armed forces were cancelled following China's invasion of Vietnam, Moscow correspondent Victor Louis reported in the London Evening News today.

Louis, a Soviet citizen, said it is understood the forces had been given the order of "combat readiness number one" although this has not been officially announced.

Adding to the suspense was the report today that United States and Soviet naval ships had stepped up activities in Southeast Asia following outbreak of fighting between China and Vietnam.

The U.S.S.R.-Vietnam treaty, signed Nov. 3, calls for "mutual consultations" if either party is menaced by outside aggression and for "appropriate effective measures" to ensure peace and security.

"The Soviet Union will honor its obligations under the treaty of friendship and cooperation between the Soviet Union and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam," the Soviet government said Sunday in an announcement.

The United States has also called on the Chinese to withdraw their forces immediately from Vietnam, adding that Vietnamese troops should likewise leave Cambodia.

And, in New York, UN Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim called Sunday for an urgent "end to all hostilities."

Meanwhile, Radio Hanoi reported Sunday that Vietnam and Cambodia have signed a treaty of peace, friendship and co-operation in Phnom Penh.

The radio gave no other details of the treaty.

In a broadcast monitored in Bangkok today, Radio Hanoi claimed that in two days of fighting Vietnamese troops killed 3,500 Chinese soldiers, destroyed 80 tanks and routed 12 Chinese battalions.

Intelligence officers said the three-day-old invasion had put Chinese forces in control of two district capitals and scores of small villages, as Peking's troops pushed six miles into Vietnam across the 450-mile frontier.

Chinese Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping said today his country will not prolong or expand the Sino-Vietnamese war and reiterated that China has no territorial ambition, a Japanese news report from Peking said.

Sources said over-all military activity on the borders were relatively light today with heavy fighting reported in certain areas. They said the initial Chinese drive was fast and quickly overran territory until it stopped six miles into Vietnam.

Hanoi claimed to have halted the invasion, but it appeared the Chinese halted their own drive even before Moscow's warning.

Although Vietnam has denied it has any troops in Cambodia, diplomatic observers in the area believe it had committeed about 100,000 soldiers to the offensive against the former Cambodian government, and has about 600,000 troops in the area. It is speculated that the attack Saturday by China into Vietnam was an attempt to force Vietnam to withdraw some of its forces from Cambodia where elements of the former government are still fighting.

The number of Chinese troops in Vietnam was not known. U.S. military analysts said the Chinese had amassed about 120,000 troops along the border, while the Vietnamese had about 50,000 soldiers deployed in an arc north of Hanoi.

A large portion of China's estimated 3.3 million-man army is reported to be stationed along its lengthy border with the Soviet Union.

Living Costs up 8.9%, Food Prices Fingered

OTTAWA (CP) — Higher food costs pushed the cost of living during January up to a 12-month rate of 8.9 per cent, Statistics Canada reported today.

This compares with a 12-month cost-of-living increase to December, 1978, of 8.4 per cent and moves the Canadian inflation rate nearly to the U.S. level, last reported in December to be 9.0 per cent on a 12-month basis.

Vancouver's annual cost-of-living increase was 7.7 per cent, with increased costs of restaurant meals, fresh vegetables, bread and dairy products being the main factors cited.

Food was the main budget-buster across the country. StatsCan said higher prices for fresh vegetables, bread, beef, chicken and butter were mainly responsible for driving food prices up by 1.9 per cent during January.

In contrast, prices for all other items in the index — which include housing, clothing, transportation, health care and leisure products — increased by 0.5 per cent.

Opposition spokesmen challenged the government today to probe food-price increases as a result of the StatsCan statistics.

Conservative James McGrath and New Democrat leader Ed Broadbent said the latest cost-of-living figures clearly demonstrate the ineffectiveness of the government's farm and food policies.

McGrath (St. John's East) said: "There is an immediate need for a national food strategy that will provide fair prices to consumers and fair returns to producers."

He challenged Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan and Consumer Affairs Minister Warren Allmand to announce the government's food strategy "if indeed they really have one."

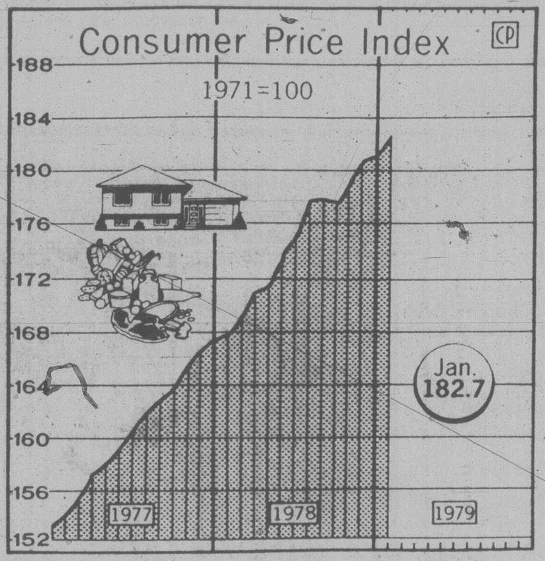
Broadbent said that unless the government acts soon, "there will be double-digit inflation in 1979." Workers could start seeking wage increases that add to inflation.

The government should reintroduce consumer subsidies on bread and dairy products which were eliminated last year.

Finance Minister Jean Chretien has repeatedly said the government is to be congratulated for keeping the inflation rate below that of the United States, even though a weak dollar makes imported goods expensive.

One dramatic example of the high cost of imports was last month's 16.1-per-cent rise in the cost of fresh vegetables.

Although food prices were the chief culprit in last month's cost-of-living increase, higher prices were also recorded for new cars, gasoline, electricity and shelter.



Year-Round Fees Urged In Province Campgrounds

The provincial parks branch has recommended to Parks Minister James Chabot that park campers pay fees year round.

Regulations at present permit the collections of fees only from April 1 to September 9.

"There is always the possibility they may go up," a parks spokesman said.

He said the proposal to charge year-round fees is the result of pressure from some private campground owners.

At a meeting held in Vancouver last fall, the owners complained of unfair competition during off-season periods.

Some demanded provincial campgrounds be phased out while others asked that fees be raised.

Bruce Hardy, a director of the Victoria Sierra Club, said strong opposition from the private sector has already resulted in little or no expansion of parks branch campgrounds in the last few years.

Campgrounds are needed on the northern half of the Vancouver Island, he said.

A major campground is badly needed at Port Renfrew to cope with the growing number of people using the west coast trail.

"We are not opposed to paying campground fees as long as they are not being increased as a means of gradually phasing the sites out," Hardy said.

Robert Nixon, an executive of the Sierra B.C. chapter, said cabinet should not lose sight of low income families when it reviews the fee structure.

A government report says there are 1,437 public and private campground locations in B.C.

Private campgrounds outnumber those operated by the provincial parks branch 623 to 131.

The remainder are operated by the B.C. Forest Service.

The report also shows the private sector supplies 24,467 managed campsite units compared to 7,272 for the parks branch.

Camper use in sites operated by the government has tripled since 1961 from 600,000 camper nights to 1.8 million camper nights in 1978.

TOTHILL HEADS LIBERALS

The new leader of the B.C. Liberal party isn't anxious for a quick provincial election.

Duncan high school teacher Jev Tothill, who won the leadership over Aldergrove contractor Hugh Chesley, believes the longer the seatless Liberals have, the better they will do when an election is called by Premier Bill Bennett.

Following his election at the party's weekend annual conference at the Empress Hotel, Tothill said the only place for the party to go is up.

Ottawa Plans Spending 8.9% More in '79-'80

OTTAWA (CP) — The government presented plans Monday to spend $52.6 billion over the next year, up $4.3 billion or 8.9 per cent, saying this showed its devotion to restraint.

Costs of the growing national debt and higher pensions and assistance for the elderly account for more than half the increase.

The spending list for 1979-80, presented in the Commons by Treasury Board President Judd Buchanan, contained budget cuts in 38 departments and agencies and spending increases in 51 others.

The figure includes an estimated $1.35 billion which Parliament will be asked to approve later this year in supplementary estimates for unforeseen expenditures.

The government's 8.9 per cent increased spending target compares with an increase of 9.5 per cent last year and 7.1 per cent in 1977-78.

Major increases in planned expenditures were shown for defence, up $247 million to $4.4 billion, mainly because of higher spending for equipment; health and welfare, up $1.36 billion to $14.07 billion; in the finance department, up $1.86 billion to $11.6 billion because of increased payments on the national debt.

Payments on the national debt are expected to consume 16.5 cents of every dollar spent.

Other highlights include:

— Payments to cover the 1978 deficit in the unemployment insurance fund increase by $400 million to $2.8 billion;

— Spending on public works projects declines by $141 million to $703 million, owing mainly to overbuilding in the Ottawa-Hull capital region;

— Federal public service employment declines to 318,435 man-years from 325,120 last year by transferring 1,400 persons to the provinces for the operation of veterans' hospitals and by eliminating 5,200 other jobs;

— Changed plans for new penitentiary construction save another $35 million.

Duncan Youth Killed in Crash

A 16-year-old Duncan youth was among three persons killed in Vancouver Island traffic accidents over the weekend.

Duncan RCMP said Thomas David Low was killed Saturday in a two-car crash on the Trans-Canada Highway near the community.

The other two deaths occurred when a car plunged into the Pachena River after hitting a bridge abutment about 12 kilometres north of Bamfield.

Police identified the two as Gary Campbell, 18, of Port Alberni, and Danny Williams, 37, of Franklin River.

Iran Pledges PLO Support

Times News Services

TEHRAN — Iran's new Islamic government ended all relations with Israel and pledged its support to the Palestinian war against the Jewish state after a weekend meeting between Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and Yasser Arafat of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Iran will "turn to the issue of victory over Israel" after it binds up the wounds of the year-long revolt that drove Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi from the country, Tehran Radio reported.

Meanwhile, Israel and Egypt sent high-level delegations to Washington today for a second round of Camp David meetings, but neither side showed any sign of conceding on the major issues blocking a Middle East Peace treaty.

Egyptian Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil, Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance were scheduled to meet Wednesday in negotiations scheduled to last four to seven days.

Iran's government radio said 22 Israeli trade and immigration officials and representatives of El Al, the Israeli airline, were expelled, and all Iranian officials in Israel were ordered home.

Arafat, the first foreign leader to visit Khomeini since he took over the government on Feb. 11, said the Iranian revolution has turned the strategic balance in the Middle East "upside down."

The final break between the new government and Israel caused concern among the thousands of Jews living in Iran, but it was not likely to have any immediate effect on Israel itself. Israel formerly got most of its oil from Iran, but all exports have been cut off since December because of strikes against the shah. The head of the last royal government, Shahpour Bakhtiar, announced in January that Israel would get no more Iranian oil after exports are resumed.

Guard Supplied Gun-Inmate

NEW WESTMINSTER, (CP) — A prisoner implicated in an attempted jail break last year at the British Columbia penitentiary has said a gun used in the incident was placed in a visitors' area by a guard.

Steven Hall, serving a life sentence, told the B.C. Supreme Court that it was impossible for visitors to get into the prisoners' washroom where he said the gun had been hidden.

"A guard put the gun in, not a visitor," said Hall, who since the attempted break has been moved to Millhaven prison in Ontario.

Hall was testifying at the trial of Betsy Wood, 40, and Gay Hoon, 33, who have been charged with helping the prisoners involved in the hostage-taking and prison break attempt.

Earlier in the trial, an inmate said he had seen a female visitor pull the gun from her lap as a glass partition separating visitors from prisoners was broken.

Hall said in his testimony that another prisoner, Andrew Bruce, sent him a message saying that he had a gun that would be hidden in the visitors' area.

Later, Bruce sent a second message saying that the gun would be concealed Jan. 28, 1978, and each of five prisoners was to arrange for visitors at 10 a.m that day so they would be taken to the area.

The other prisoners to be involved in the escape attempt were Ralph Saumer, who was to use the gun, Richard Wright, who was to break the glass and David Bennett, Hall said.

Hall said on the morning of the attempt Wood was visiting him and Hoon was visiting Bennett.

He said at the time of the incident he was serving 15 years with more charges coming, Bennett and Wright were serving 20 years, Bruce was in solitary confinement and Saumer was doing 30 years.

"There was no hope except to get out," Hall said.

The trial continues.

RHODESIA PLANES BOMB GUERRILLA ARMS DUMP

SALISBURY (AP) — The Rhodesian Air Force bombed a guerrilla arms and supply dump in Mozambique today, the Rhodesian military command announced. It was the third such attack reported in three days.

The planes bombed a storage base of Robert Mugabe's Zimbabwe African National Union at Chimoio, about 130 kilometres east of the Rhodesian border, a communique said.

"No damage was incurred to any other buildings or property outside this complex," the communique continued. "All aircraft returned safely to base."

Rhodesian planes on Saturday and Sunday attacked camps in Zambia of the other guerrilla force fighting white rule in Rhodesia, Joshua Nkomo's Zimbabwe African Peoples Union, said reports from Lusaka, the Zambian capital. The Rhodesian command admitted the raids Saturday, saying two ZAPU camps near the Victoria Falls were attacked. But it denied that any raids were flown Sunday.

The strikes appeared to be an attempt by the Rhodesian government to disrupt preparations for guerrilla infiltration into Rhodesia to sabotage the April elections to choose the country's first parliament with a black majority.

HIGHER HOUSE PRICES?

TORONTO (CP) — The average price of a new home in Canada this year is likely to increase by about 10 per cent, a spokesman for the Housing and Urban Development Association of Canada (HUDAC) said today.

George Frieser, the association's economic research chairman, said higher costs for construction materials would likely be the biggest factor in the increase.

"Assuming that wage settlements for labor hold the line, the increase should be about 10 per cent," he told a news conference at the association's annual meeting.

"The increase, starting with new construction this spring, would be passed on to the consumer."

HUDAC president William Small said most construction materials, including home insulation, are readily available but that prices are likely to increase.

Lumber, particularly plywood from Western Canada, is in short supply, he said.

Small said a province-by-province survey indicated housing starts will total about 218,300 units this year.

Avalanche Dangers To Be Investigated

Times News Services

CRANBROOK — The provincial government will investigate the danger of avalanches in order to tighten safety standards, Parks Minister James Chabot said Saturday.

The announcement followed the deaths last Wednesday of six Swiss nationals and an American on a helicopter-ski tour in the Purcell Range south of Golden.

Chabot said the government would launch an official inquiry "sometime in March", involving representatives of ski holiday promoters and companies providing helicopter transportation to ski slopes.

He told a Social Credit Party meeting the inquiry would examine all aspects of avalanche danger. The inquiry would lead to legislation introducing tougher safety standards and procedures.

Conservative MP Howard Johnston (Okanagan-Kootenay) said last week he will seek a federal inquiry of the industry.

Said Chabot: "If the federal government wants a joint federal-provincial study on heli-skiing, we'll co-operate," he said.

Peter Schlunegger, part owner of Purcell Helicopters Ltd. of Banff, Alta., which organized the outing, said his company called in the National Research Council after the accident to study snow conditions in the area. Results are not yet known.

"We just wanted to see whether our judgment was correct or not," he said.

Snow conditions are monitored carefully before skiing is allowed, he said, and in this case a properly-licensed guide had determined that conditions were safe.

"We do everything we know of to make sure it's as safe as possible."

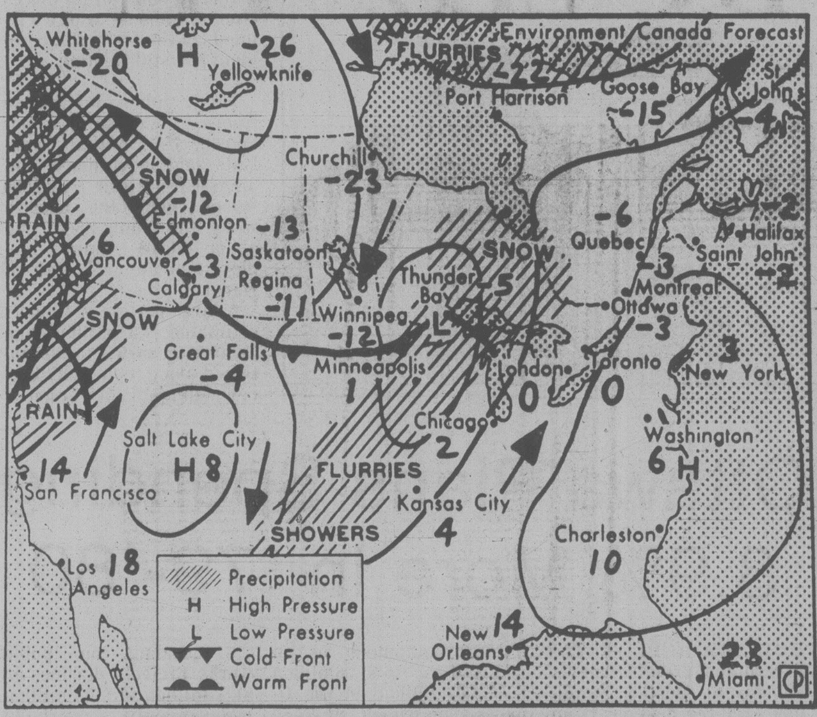

Map valid until noon Tuesday

The current pattern of mild, moist weather across southern B.C., while the colder air maintains its hold across the north, will continue into mid week. A disturbance which spread showers along the coast overnight will weaken today so that most regions will experience a little sunshine during the day. However, the next disturbance upstream has already become organized over the Pacific and will spread rain to the coast by Tuesday morning and snow through the interior later in the day.

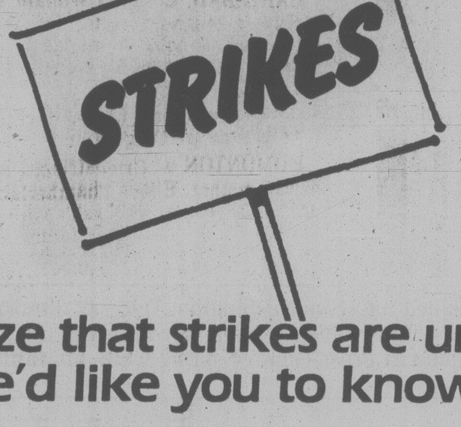
Talk to the write people.



We realize that strikes are unpopular. But we'd like you to know more.

Do you know why we must often resort to a strike?

Because negotiation is the only other legal means to air our grievances, and often the employer refuses to negotiate in good faith. We then have no other choice but to strike which we know is an unpopular measure and one that is always costly for us.

Do you know what Prime Minister P.E. Trudeau said about the right to strike in his letter to the Montreal and District Labour Council, on June 29, 1978?

"The government believes that the collective agreement procedure, including the right to strike, remains the most effective and just means of determining salary levels and working conditions in the civil service."

What positive measure did the Postmaster propose in reply to our demands?

After having stated several months previously: "the abolition of the right to strike is no solution", he took that legal right away from us.

What concrete measures have we proposed to eliminate strikes?

During negotiating sessions we proposed a wide range of solutions for all the problems. We supported this with detailed written suggestions on each specific problem. Moreover, we are now actively informing the public about the true situation in the Postal Service.

That's why we've prepared a special folder which will help give you an accurate view of this conflict. Ask for it by writing to: P.O. Box 8871, Alta Vista Terminal, Ottawa. We'll be happy to send it to you.

Put your stamp of concern on it!

World War Coming, Says Solzhenitsyn

Exiled Russian writer Alexander Solzhenitsyn says a third world war is increasingly likely.

The warning came in the second half of an interview with BBC's Russian service, to mark the fifth anniversary of his expulsion from the Soviet Union.

"We are clearly moving toward a world war and yet Western statesmen deceive themselves that we are moving toward detente," he said. "They surrender several countries a year to communism, and yet they do not tremble . . . How long will the supply of countries last?"

The 60-year-old Nobel Prize-winning author was speaking at his home in Vermont, where he has lived for two years.

"The Communists cannot renounce aggression . . . These madmen will clearly succeed in plunging both our country and the whole world into war . . . because ranged on the opposite side will be a billion-strong China.

"Hence, the victor will again be communism, but in a different form.

LOS ANGELES — Benjamin C., 3, from New Mexico, died with his parents at his bedside 17 minutes after doctors turned off his life-support machine, acting under permission granted in an unprecedented court order.

The parents had gone to court for permission to shut off the life-supporting respiratory machine, citing medical testimony that the boy could never recover.

BERKELEY, Calif.— The last and most complete of the Dead Sea Scrolls discloses remarkable, new evidence about the origin of Christian teaching on sex, marriage and divorce, a Biblical scholar said Sunday.

Called the "Temple Scroll," the newly published document sets forth a code of behavior forbidding divorce and polygamy.

It has been carefully unrolled and deciphered by Yagael Yadin, the Israeli scholar who is now deputy prime minister, assisted by Prof. Jacob Milgrom of the University of California.

Gov.-Gen. Edward Schreyer and his son Jason, 11, foreground, Saturday joined in the Canadian Ski Marathon near Montebello, Que.

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia — The Queen, a keen racegoer, was treated to a camel race in the desert Sunday.

A one-hump dromedary of Prince Faisal ben Khalid ben Abdul Aziz, ridden by an eight-year-old boy named Mohammed, won the $1,000 first prize.

After the race the Queen was received by Saudi Queen Sita for a tea party in the glittering Ma'ather royal palace.

KANSAS CITY— The FBI received an anonymous telephone tip predicting Lee Harvey Oswald would be killed as he was transferred from the Dallas city jail, a retired FBI agent says.

James Hosty, who had been assigned to investigate Oswald before the assassination of former president John F. Kennedy, said Dallas police ignored the warning.

WASHINGTON — A bullet-riddled bust of Adolf Hitler was put up for sale Sunday but its owner refused to accept a bid of $9,000.

The bust, sculpted from life by Ludwig Nick, was taken from Hitler's bunker apartment.

NEW YORK — Convicted Son of Sam killer David Berkowitz says he is of sound mind and wants "nothing except to be left alone and to spend the rest of my life in prison."

NEW YORK — Sophia Loren says in a magazine article she played "psychiatrist, comforter and ego masseuse" to Richard Burton during his estrangement from Elizabeth Taylor.

CARLSBAD, Calif. — William Dennis Gargan, a tough-guy actor for 36 years who achieved equal fame as a cancer crusader after losing his voice to the disease, is dead at 73.

EDMONTON — Grief-stricken Saskatchewan mother, Eileen Chamberlain, will bury her 20-year-old Jehovah's Witness son Leonard Budd today after failing to convince him last week to accept a blood transfusion at an Edmonton hospital.

Budd, a recent convert to the Jehovah's Witnesses, died of internal bleeding last week after suffering a ruptured spleen and other internal injuries in a car accident near Edmonton.

Helping Hands Remove His Ring

DALLAS (UPI) — A man hoping for a little chivalry from two women got quite a shock.

Police said John McCorley, 32, of Dallas fell on an ice-coated downtown parking lot and badly injured an elbow. In great pain, he called for help until two women approached him.

A Gloomy Future

Provincial Liberals made brave efforts this weekend to suggest that their leadership convention was, so to speak, the first day of the rest of their lives.

To most observers, however, it was more like the first day of the party's arrival in a ward for the terminally ill. The funeral, it is expected, will come after the next provincial election.

The Liberal party as a provincial force has been in failing health for the past decade or more. Its proportion of the popular vote has been gradually declining from the election of 1969 to the present. The five MLAs it had after the 1972 election became two in 1975 when the three senior caucus members defected to the Social Credit cause. After the 1975 election, the number dwindled to one when former leader David Anderson lost his seat. Only Gordon Gibson remained.

Yet because of Gibson, the party's cause was not seen as entirely hopeless. Gibson, by then the leader, provided a single ray of light in an otherwise dark tunnel: he was a member of the noted Gibson family, remembered with affection by most British Columbians; he had a respectable Liberal background through work in the prime minister's office; he was widely perceived as an outstanding MLA, combining a good wit, thorough research and a broad streak of common sense.

But after three years of frustration as the lone representative of his party in the legislature, Gibson decided to call it quits and try instead for an Ottawa seat. The light for the provincial Liberals dimmed, but did not yet go out; it was still possible another well-known and respected British Columbian might come along to try to lead the party back into the paths of glory.

At the convention, however, it became clear that that was not about to happen. The new leader, Jev Tothill, has many strengths: he is bright, he is articulate, he is a passionately hard worker, he has a solid background in party affairs. He would probably make a good MLA.

He is, however, a virtual unknown in British Columbia. He is known in his home riding of Cowichan-Malahat because he ran there for the Liberals in 1975 (although he gained less than eight per cent of the vote). He is fairly well-known within the Liberal party because he worked as an adviser to both Anderson and Gibson. But nothing in his background, personal or political, has given him any recognition in the province as a whole.

There is no particular reason to believe that he can develop a high enough profile to make the Liberals seem a credible force in the next election, expected within a year. Indeed, he will have to be extremely lucky to win a seat of his own, either in one of the upcoming byelections or in the next general election.

The other candidate for the leadership, however, would certainly have fared no better in this regard. Hugh Chesley, a contractor from the Fraser Valley, claimed to have worked for C.D. Howe more than 25 years ago, but nobody in the party remembers hearing from him since.

Indeed, the unknown qualities of the candidates were commented upon by many delegates in private discussions. Some went so far as to suggest that the convention would elect only an interim leader, and see if somebody more generally known across B.C. couldn't be found by next year. That suggestion never did reach the convention floor.

Tothill will undoubtedly work hard to try to keep the spirit of Liberalism alive in B.C., but with no seat in the House and no public profile, it will be an uphill job. The prognosis for the future of the provincial Liberals seems decidedly gloomy.

Flower Power

Although saying anything against some of the schemes dreamed up to promote tourism in Victoria is considered heretical by some businessmen and government officials, it has to be said: Victoria's winter flower count is a corny way of getting people to come here.

It's ironic that the campaign had to be put off this year because of unseasonably cold weather and a six-centimetre snowfall. In fact, the weather has been very different from the advertised soft, warm climate in this far-flung corner of the Mediterranean which supposedly nurtures February flowers and year-round golfers.

A slightly more subtle and sophisticated approach might be created, one that possibly could be more effective. On the other hand, why give up gloating about our snowdrops and crocuses which — even if delayed — do bloom here when folks back east are still wearing snow boots. Besides, it's fun.

JAMES RESTON

'Me Politics' Take Over

MEXICO CITY — From Toronto to Mexico City, up and down the continent, one hears a rueful lament these days. It is that "me politics" have taken over; that personal interests and narrow commercial or social concerns are dividing the people and diverting them from the larger questions of the general good.

This conflict between general and personal interests has always been at the root of political action, of course, but it seems more of a threat now in the free world when the need for cooperation in complex societies is greater than ever before.

Some examples:

Should Know Better

☐ In his New Year's message to the Canadian people, Prime Minister Trudeau was almost pleading with his fellow countrymen to disarm their violent tempers and to think and act, not as French-Canadians or as English-Canadians, but just as Canadians.

A few days later, Rene Levesque, the premier of Quebec, was down in Washington proclaiming the virtues of separation for his province and getting a good hand from members of the National Press Club, who should know better.

☐ At the same time, President Carter, having concluded that inflation was the main threat to the commonweal, brought in what was called a "lean" and "austere" budget — of over half a trillion dollars — and has been under attack ever since from the black lobby and the labor lobby for abandoning the poor.

And also from the big business lobby for paying too much attention to the poor.

☐ Here also is Mayor Ed Koch of New York, trying in his state of the city message to find a "new language" to deal with race relations in New York City and beseeching the factional leaders to put an "end to the rhetoric, the posturing, and the harmful language of confrontation."

For his efforts, some of his noisy opponents wanted a "recall" petition to get rid of him.

☐ Finally, here in Mexico City, you see in the alarming growth of population — from 19.5 million in 1945 to 63 million in 1977 — and of unemployment (25 per cent) the ultimate example of a do-as-you-please society that exports the consequences of overpopulation and underemployment to the United States.

Moreover, factionalism seems to be a communicable disease, which becomes more treacherous as key factions can paralyze a whole complex industrial society.

Even in Britain, which is supposed to have invented team play and democratic responsibility, there is now turmoil as a result of strikes by truckers and civil servants, and if you want to see the tyranny of minorities, look at Italy, the Middle East, and particularly Iran.

Not getting the power they want, the Italian communists have brought down the Andreotti government. And Tehran is now crippled by a spasm of religious frenzy, led by an old religious prophet who will probably put back his country and even his religion by at least a generation.

It is clear that the crisis in Iran has created a common danger of communist penetration for Jew and Arab alike, but factionalism in Israel and Egypt is keeping them from completing the Camp David accords that promised so much for so short a time.

Out for Themselves

What is it that has brought on this contempt for authority? It is partly the misuse of authority by executives in the past — imperial presidencies leading to imperial congresses and parliaments, greatly influenced by powerful business, labor and racial factions.

Beyond this, however, it is also a general feeling among the general public of being overwhelmed by the complexity of modern problems and a growing cynicism and mistrust of all politicians and most institutions.

In short, a tendency to work with factions for limited and often selfish ends. One hears the same refrain over the wide range of free countries — that everybody is out for himself, so why not do the same?

Explanation, Please

I was told recently, by one who is supposed to know, that politicians have a somewhat low opinion of the mental ability of the electorate. If I am anywhere near the average for this tribe, then I expect the politicians are right in their estimation. There are some things in B.C. politics today that I simply cannot fathom, and I can find no one who can enlighten me.

A recent puzzle concerns the tour sellout to a United States firm, of our bus system (there were a few other bits and pieces left over from the NDP that went over the border too). "We're selling B.C. to the Americans," the NDP howl, "the Socred are giving away our precious province."

"Not so," say the top brass of the Socreds. "Look, we have kept MacMillan Bloedel and therefore B.C. from those godless eastern Canadians — B.C. is now not for sale — it was those terrible NDPers who handed B.C. and all her goodies over to the U.S."

What's more, they had all the official facts and figures to prove that never in the history of the province had there been a greater sell-out of our fair province to foreign interests. Hungry Yanks poured in and gobbled all our companies and resources.

To all this the NDP says the figures are misinterpreted. Shortly after the bus deal, our premier goes into the Interior and addresses a meeting of his faithful. "B.C. needs more foreign investors," he says, then he goes on to explain, as he has done on numerous other occasions, that the NDP has frightened away all foreign investors.

If we can believe the Socreds, no sooner did the NDP come into power than Wall Street shuddered, foreign investors folded their tents and fled B.C., and prospective investors looked elsewhere, and never since have these lovely monied people looked our way they don't trust us, and all because we still have socialists sitting in our legislature, hovering for another chance of power.

I am sure there must be a logical explanation to all this that has escaped me. Or is politics one of the few areas of human endeavour where we can have things both ways at the same time? — Monica Oldham, 511 Victoria Avenue.

Calling Zetas

Are you a lost Zeta? Zeta Tau Alpha, an international women's fraternity, is looking for "lost members" to help celebrate the 50th anniversary of the installation of Beta Rho Chapter at the University of Manitoba. The Winnipeg chapteris the only Canadian chapter and makes the organization an international one.

Any Zetas who wish to be informed of the celebration to be held in Winnipeg this April, are asked to contact me at 658-8818 for information. — Donna Perrin, 947 Carolwood Drive.

Just an Aspirin

I read that the B.C. government is going to have another surplus, about eight per cent of estimated expenditure (B.C. Surplus $145M?; Times, Feb. 9). I also hear that many people seem to consider this highly undesirable. I find this attitude disappointing and somewhat frightening.

From where do these people think the money to cover over-expenditures will come? There appear to be only two sources other than increased taxation. One, to borrow at high rates expensive credit from hard currency souces, and two, (for the federal government) the printing press. The first is an "aspirin" — the pain returns with increased severity. The second is one of the major causes of our inflation and weak dollar.

So let us not be too critical of B.C.'s surplus, and hope that the politicians don't blow it all on electioneering. — T. Hughes, Victoria.

Great Time

We would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for the wonderful time we had at the Third Annual Western Oldtimers Hockey Tournament. The hospitality and friendliness of the people and business of Victoria shall not be forgotten. To the hard-working committee of the South Island Minor Hockey Association, again Thanks. — Frank Frankes, Manager, Maidstone Super Jets (oldtimers), Maidstone, Saskatchewan.

Rambling Thoughts

Rambling Notes is certainly an appropriate title for Stewart Lang's recent column More Concern Needed Over Habitat Issues (Times, Feb. 9); Lang's logic rambles in the same unchecked manner as his writing style. Trapping is okay, he muses, because we all eat meat and therefore "kill by proxy."

He doesn't argue that killing meat for food, or the destruction of natural habitats, are morally justifiable but simply supposes that since a majority of us presumably concur in these activities that therefore the cruel barbarism of the leghold trap must be all right. His final intellectual coup de grace, that the opponents of trapping are simpletons deluded by Disney and Grizzly Adams is evidence that he is truly bereft of logical arguments and must settle for a cheap attack on the individuals who disagree with him, rather than upon their arguments. — Alan D. Bowd, 1794 Midgard Avenue.

Peter Pan Is Real?

Re: Max Low's article in the Times Feb. 6: Okay That's It! Time for L.B.T.

He suggests that we file away our television sets because of the increasing violence being shown on our screens. He also points out that this has come to a head with a 16-year-old girl shooting and killing her school principal, the television show SWAT taking the brunt of the uproar on this incident.

Well, I say nonsense. If you are trying to say that a fictional television show is the main influence on any person eight years of age and older, you still believe that Peter Pan is for real and that Superman is our close encounter of the third kind.

I am sick and tired of parents and television anti-violence groups looking for the easy way out by screaming "they are so influenced by television." Believe it or not, people do know what's right and what's wrong.

I wonder if Mr. Low's seven-year-old son turns green (not with envy) from watching the Hulk, and running around the house like a motorcycle from CHiPS, or having read one of his father's newspaper articles.

I also think television ads are often boring and portray people as being vain idiots. But after reading Mr. Low's last bit of trash, I think they show a lot more intelligence than Mr. Low's one and one-half inch span.

But he is right on one count. Maybe I will tell two friends, and they'll tell two friends and so on and so on. — S. L. Taylor, 618 Hallsor Place.

Degrading Words

Re: a Canadian Press story printed in the Times Feb. 1 (Old War Wounds Opened), I am appalled at the statements made: "Our French boys were used as a buffer to protect the anglophones" and "Over 4,000 of our young people [Quebecers] were butchered in the battlefield." These statements were made in the House of Commons Jan. 31 by Charles-Arthur Gauthier, Social Credit parliamentary leader, and apparently went unchallenged. I believe the statements to be degrading and treacherous to both our dead and living veterans.

It is imperative that veterans launch an investigation into the accuracy of these statements, and, when proven inaccurate, demand an apology to all Canadians for this divisive tactic.

No Canadian must read Mr. Gauthier's words, and, seeing no rebuttal, be allowed to believe that horrendous accusation, "English-Canadians being responsible for the butchering" of Quebecers.

I protest the appalling laxity of Danson, minister of defence and the defence critics of both opposition parties in failing to defend those who served in our Canadian forces. — N. A. MacEwan, 95 Norquay Road.

A New Constitution

The debate about a new or revised Canadian constitution has centred around the relations between federal and provincial governments within Canada and a new Bill of Rights. The scope of the debate should be broadened.

As the British North America Act, the written part of our constitution, is 112 years old, revisions should forsee the future world in which communications have made all the world's people much closer neighbors — unless the weapons of war have annihilated us.

I therefore support the World Federalists of Canada in their view that the constitution should condemn war as a means of settling disputes, ban weapons of mass destruction in Canada and accept the compulsory jurisdiction of the International Court of Justice.

The present constitutions of Germany, Japan, India, Italy and others contain clauses limiting their sovereignty. Canada should declare its willingness to transfer by legislation certain powers to a world body such as the United Nations when such actions further peace and justice.

In addition, the preamble to our constitution should contain an inspiring statement about our individual responsibilities as national and world citizens, if those who amend our constitution are wise statesman above petty arguments. If Canada is to survive the next hundred years in a turbulent world future citizens could then look back and say: "This was their finest hour." — E. C. Collier, 1194 Clovelly Terrace.

Preserve It

I have been told that your paper can help us in our fight to stop development of Sidney Island. Please help us preserve this scenic area for future generations as a recreational area. — Marguerite Y. Matson, 2620 Queenswood Drive.

Cruelty Goes On

Approximately 80,000 squirrels were lost to us last year in B.C. through trapping. Some are shot through the head, but most are caught in snares and steel leghold traps.

Snares set for squirrels are placed near their dens or on a pole nailed to a tree. Usually the victim is caught by the leg and dies slowly and painfully trying to free itself. No creature on earth deserves to die like this. Yet this cruelty goes on, as it has for hundreds of years.

More than four million fur-bearing animals will suffer and die in barbaric traps this year in Canada, victims of a greedy and ruthless fur trade that feeds on human vanity. — Pat Combe, 1050 Finlayson Street.

Tidy-Minded Switzerland Makes Haste Slowly

By NORMAN CROSSLAND

A Country that Enjoys the World's Highest Living Standard

Neutrality, many Swiss believe, is a cornerstone of Switzerland's economic success. Observers outside Switzerland can be excused for arguing that the air of security and stability created by many years of economic prosperity — and, when it comes to dealing with foreign money, the secrecy the Swiss banks maintain — have more to do with the hardness of the Swiss franc than its policy of neutrality.

Yet even they would grant that, allied with its virtues of diligence, orderliness and reliability, Switzerland's refusal to get enmeshed in the world's troubles is good for business. Switzerland, the Everlasting League of different peoples, languages and religions, runs it own, unique form of direct democracy. That slows down the rate of social and economic change; but that suits the great majority of the Swiss. Switzerland stands in international relations very much on its own. And, without an ally, it provides for its own defence.

Yet few countries are as dependent economically as Switzerland is on the world beyond its borders. It has to import nearly all its raw materials, 65 per cent of its food and 80 per cent of its energy requirements. It has to export to survive. Exports of goods and services account for about 40 per cent of its gnp — and they have to be sold in a currency that appreciates in value every time there is a run on the dollar. The rise in the franc in 1978, reflected in the increased cost of Swiss exports to foreign buyers and the higher cost of a holiday in Switzerland for tourists, have opened Swiss eyes to the apparent vulnerability of their prosperity. One official went as far as to say that Swiss economic stability was something of an optical illusion.

Perhaps so. But Switzerland's prosperity is tangibly impressive. This, after all, is a country which enjoys the highest standard of living in the world. Its economy is extraordinarily successful, respectable and virtuous (though some of the foreign workers the Swiss have sent home might not agree with that sentiment). That success is based on the bourgeois tenets of free enterprise and fair trading.

The gibe usually levelled at the Swiss is that they are conservative and smug. They do indeed make haste, when it comes to political and social decisions, slowly. But in doing so they are seeking to express the will of the people. And, as for being smug, it is truer to say that the Swiss are worriers. They are worried now about the consequences of the appreciation of the Swiss franc, brought about in part by their own success and in part by other countries' failings. They worry whether they can hold the line in keeping unemployment and inflation at bay. But it is because they worry that the Swiss are so successful. And, for all their anxieties, the Swiss would not like to be in anybody else's shoes.

But then Switzerland is like no other country, and the Swiss have qualities which set them apart from other people. They are well equipped to meet any challenge to their prosperity. They are the people who turned down the 40-hour week because they thought it was in the country's interest that they should work longer hours, who rejected a proposal to reduce the pensionable age because they saw that it would cost too much, and who voted for an increase in the price of bread when the government explained that it must raise the duty on imported grain. It is this "Swissness", this old-fashioned acceptance of the common good, which has helped Switzerland achieve its remarkable degree of stability.

It is often puzzling to the foreign visitor why the Swiss behave so reasonably. And their inherent conservatism may exasperate those radicals who wish to run things differently. But why start tinkering with a system that functions so smoothly?

However, change is being talked about. Ten years ago the Swiss began gingerly to discuss a fundamental shake-up of the way they manage their affairs. They set to work on a total revision of the constitution — to adjust it, as the reformers said at the time, to the needs of a modern society. That revision is now complete, but even the most optimistic forecasts say that the public debate about it will drag on at least until the middle of the 1980s. And it is more than likely that after yet another decade has passed one of the smouldering topics of the day will still be the new, projected constitution.

Among politicians, senior officials, academics and journalists there is a desire for cautious change, a feeling, for instance, that without damaging its policy of permanent neutrality Switzerland could play a bigger role — by joining the United Nations and by increasing its aid to the developing countries.

Some reformers talk vaguely of creating a more just and still more efficient society. In Bern there are plenty of people who would like to add to the federal government's powers. But Bern is most definitely not Switzerland. Go to the cantons of Uri or Glarus and you will hear the view that not much good comes from Bern and that if the federal government gets too big for its boots it can go and jump in the River Aare.

It is not the federal government — nor for that matter the federal parliament — which calls the tune in Switzerland. Swiss democracy may be cumbersome and tedious and it is certainly not perfect, but it is worthy of the name. The system is based on the quaint notion that decisions should not be left to politicians and officials, but should be taken by those most intimately concerned — the people. And on the whole the way in which the people have voted over the years on federal, cantonal and community issues has shown an astonishing maturity.

But the foreigner who goes to Switzerland, asking himself which aspects of it could usefully be adopted in his own country, will frequently be told by the Swiss themselves that Swiss democracy is being heavily overdone. Some people somewhere in Switzerland are voting on some issue or other on pretty well every second Sunday in the year. The turnout at these referendums, not surprisingly, is falling; a lot of people are bored by voting and many are bewildered by the complexity of the issues involved.

Not that even the advocates of reform would wish to exchange their system for indirect democracy — of the kind, say, practised in Britain. They realize that the basic components of the Swiss model must be preserved if the linguistic and cultural interests of minorities are to be protected. For Switzerland, unlike other countries, was not created by assembling a people with a common language and a common culture around a strong central government. Excluding the 13.5 per cent of the population who are foreigners, it is a collection of some 5.5 million citizens with two different religions and four different languages, living in 26 highly autonomous cantons. The concept of Swiss federalism, established in its present form in 1848, is vital to Swiss unity.

However, it is wrong to assume, as some foreigners still appear to do, that the affairs of state are left entirely to folksy open-air gatherings of the people on some Sunday or other in the lush Swiss spring. Such vital matters as Switzerland's external security, its international relationships and the preservation of its independence and neutrality are the responsibility of the federal government.

But domestically the powers of that government remain strictly limited, despite a slight increase in the powers of the central administration in recent years — notably in the sphere of social welfare and, to a lesser extent, in economic affairs (where, however, it must be noted that in economically crucial dealings in the foreign exchange markets it is the technocrats in the National Bank in Zurich who call the tune rather than the politicians in Bern).

'Deregulation is no Panacea for Industry'

THE PROGRESSIVE
An Editorial

"Politicians are getting the message," exults William F. Buckley's National Review: "Airlines have been deregulated; trucks and rails may soon be; construction may be next; and ain't it wunnerful?" Well, it is and it ain't, but mostly it ain't.

The airline "deregulation" program initiated at the Civil Aeronautics Board under the leadership of Alfred Kahn is being credited with the reduced fares that helped boost air travel during the recent holiday period, and these reduced fares are cited, in turn, as a powerful answer to inflation. Kahn, who now directs President Carter's anti-inflation program, has announced he will be looking for more areas in which to foster deregulation and increased competition. As National Review notes, interstate trucking is likely to be next.

But deregulation raises some tricky long-range questions that its enthusiastic advocates — including those politicians who are "getting the message" — have not yet confronted. The airlines, for example, have not only been granted new freedom to offer "bargain" fares; they have also been freed to enter into competitive scrambles over the routes they serve. The short-run benefit to consumers is real and substantial — at least for that minority that travels by air. But increased competition also means the airlines must begin buying new aircraft to serve more routes.

As long as demand for air travel remains heavy, most airlines will be able to absorb the increased capital costs. But when economic downturns come — as they must — some airlines will find themselves overextended, confronted with the likelihood of failure or the pressure to merge. Concentration in the industry will intensify, and a few companies will come to control larger and larger shares of the market. Several major airlines are already vying to swallow National Airlines.

The Airline Deregulation Act of 1978 provides that mergers among airlines are to be tested by the anti-trust standards traditionally applied by the courts to the unregulated industries. This is hardly reassuring: Federal anti-trust policy has had little impact on corporate mergers and economic concentration. Given the enormous economic leverage available to major corporations, with their campaign contributions, control over jobs and investments, and access to the mass media, anti-trust laws have merely provided a legal veneer for growing corporate power.

Regulation of industry has often been initiated at the request of major corporate groups when they found competition had become so fierce as to erode profits. Regulation brought peace and stable earnings. But simply because regulation has often been instigated by corporate capital to serve its own purposes, we cannot assume that deregulation will serve the public's. A more competitive airline industry will inevitably be a more concentrated industry. A few giants will eventually earn larger profits — in part by charging higher fares and curtailing service to smaller and less profitable routes.

Deregulation is no panacea for the airlines or for any other industry. What we need is a regulatory apparatus that can impose the rational organization which meets broad public needs rather than corpoate demands for higher profits. In today's political climate, that kind of regulatory system will not readily be achieved. But when it comes, it will be wunnerful.

The Mysterious West

THE GLOBE AND MAIL

Edgar Kaiser, a Vancouver resident, knew exactly what he wanted to do with the $300,000 house which he didn't like. He had the 4-year-old mansion demolished and has ordered another one worth $600,000 built on exactly the same site.

Mr. Kaiser wasn't happy with his castle and did something about it.

Most folks who live east of the Rockies would be too timid to set things right. They'd worry about what the neighbors might think. Westerners do not live by the rules of caution and custom.

They give companies away, have land lotteries and elect Social Credit governments.

We don't understand these things. What's wrong with us?

The Necking Craze

russell baker

The newest pastime on American campuses is called "necking." Like dancing, necking requires two people, usally a male and a female, and a relatively private place with very little light. It is usually done by appointment. "Let's get together tonight and neck," one student may say to another. Or, "What do you say to a little necking Saturday night?"

Members of the older generation — that is, people who were in college five or six years ago — are often shocked and disgusted by necking. Dr. Albert D. Runcible, the noted authority, believes that necking's popularity, in fact, stems partly from the younger generation's traditional urge to do things that drive its elders up the wall.

"There's nothing more calculated to infuriate an aging 28-year-old than the sight of two students cramped uncomfortably in a parked car and partaking fully of the pleasures of necking," Dr. Runcible writes.

The quotation is from Dr. Runcible's $22.50 illustrated book, "The Joy of Necks," a volume every college student who wants to be up-to-date keeps hidden under the mattress. Why under the mattress? To enrage the fogeys who believe such books should be flaunted shamelessly on the coffee table.

What is necking? Bing Harper, who has been acclaimed by the campus paper as "the hottest necker at Cornell," recently told the Associated Press that necking is "contemporary youth's response to the boredom created by televised football and unfettered sex."

Dr. Harold Liverworth, the syndicated general practitioner, said in a recent column that necking has very little to do with sex and everything to do with jogging. Students too lazy to jog believe they can enjoy ample healthful exercise by wrestling on sofas in darkened rooms and the back seats of parked cars, Dr. Liverworth wrote.

He urged them to reconsider their arteries and lungs, pointing out that it takes 17 hours of intense necking to give heart and lungs the same benefits that come from a mere two-hour jog around the campus. Moreover, he cautioned, students who neck more than twice a week may be in for serious neck problems later in life.

Dr. Runcible, who is all enthusiasm for the new fad, sees necking as an exercise in pure pleasure and urges his readers to master its subtleties, which he describes under such chapter headings as "Smooching," "That Ear Lobe Is for Nibbling!" "How To Breathe Steamily," and so forth.

He places high importance on proper necking attire. For women he recommends several layers of garments heavily-equipped with snaps, buttons, hooks and bolts that would defy the dexterity of Houdini.

For men he suggests "a spare pair of hands" — Dr. Runcible's enthusiasm occasionally infects his style with cuteness — and a stiff white shirt. This will not only show lipstick and other cosmetics smears to best advantage, but will also come out of the necking encounter with the crushed, rumpled look of tired bedsheets, thus leaving no doubt among one's peers that he is a necker to be reckoned with.

Dr. Runcible is impatient with students' dogged preference for necking in parked cars and on sofas. "The campus," he writes, "affords hundreds of places for perfectly scrumptious necking. What more delightful place for a little ear nibbling than the back of a lecture hall when all others are drowsing to the history of the Ottoman Empire? For heavy smooching, the library stacks can be Paradise Enow."

Campus controversy swirls around the question of what necking is normal and what is perverse. Dr. Runcible argues that there is no such thing as perverted necking, provided both neckers enjoy it, nobody gets hurt and matters do not go any further than steamy eyeglasses.

"If you can enjoy necking only in the parlor of a fully-populated home or a crowded sorority house where the risk of being caught in the act heightens your pleasure, neck away," advises Dr. Runcible, "and fie upon him who calls you pervert."

But, he cautions, "any necking that threatens to culminate in routine sexual gymnastics must be resisted with the utmost willpower if you wish to avoid the dreary fate that befell the older generation of students five or six years ago."

The joy of necking, then, consists in leaving the necker with something to look forward to.

Among speculative issues, Nocana Ltd. gained three cents at $1.75 on a volume of 6,200 shares traded.

London

The Financial Times index of 30 industrials closed at 460.3, up 5.0.

Industrials were the biggest gainers, as higher yield considerations spurred buying. Dealers said the firmness of sterling and the likelihood of stable interest rates helped sentiment.

Canadian stocks eased.

HIGH PROSPECT FOR PLASTICS

TORONTO (CP) — Most Canadian plastics processors and resin suppliers expect a sales increase of more than 10 per cent this year, a survey by the Society of the Plastics Industry of Canada shows.

The survey says 53 per cent of processors and 70 per cent of resin suppliers surveyed predicted sales will rise more than 10 per cent in 1979. The remainder expect an increase of three to 10 per cent.

Last year was more profitable than expected with 59 per cent of processors and 70 per cent of suppliers realizing a sales increase of more than 10 per cent.

In line with higher sales, profits also rose last year for 69 per cent of the processors and 60 per cent of the suppliers.

A price increase instituted by almost three-quarters of the processors and suppliers was partially responsible for increased sales and profits in 1978.

The industry expects to increase prices by at least three per cent in 1980 to offset increased costs for raw materials.

The survey indicates that wage increases will remain moderate with almost all firms predicting increases of less than 10 per cent.

Westinghouse

Strikes at five of its plants helped slash profits in 1978 for Westinghouse Canada Ltd., the company reported.

Westinghouse reported net income before an extraordinary item of $8,275,000 or $3.08 a share compared with 1977 earnings of $15,429,000 or $5.75 a share.

The extraordinary item came from the disposal of the company's household appliance business which increased net income by $416,000 or 16 cents a share.

F. H. Tyaack, president and chief executive officer, said the strikes, plus soft markets for construction, industrial and some utility products contributed to the lower earnings.

Quebecor

Quebecor reported operating profits for the quarter ending Dec. 31 dropped sharply to $22,000 from $1.9 million in the same period in 1977.

Sales for the period were $40.7 million, up from $38.1 million in the final quarter of the previous year.

The company said in a statement it "enjoyed a favorable situation" in the last quarter of 1977 due to the absence of competitive French-language newspapers in Montreal and Quebec City.

Current fiscal-year results for 1978, the statement said, were reduced by poor performance at the Graphic Web printing subsidiary in Toronto, which incurred higher than expected operating costs.

The results for the quarter also include an operating loss at the Philadelpha Journal, a company-owned newspaper in Pennsylvania, the statement added.

St. Laurence

St. Laurence Cement Co. reported record 1978 profits of $12.7 million, or $4.27 a share, up 67 per cent from $7.6 million, or $2.54 a share, a year earlier.

Figures include an extraordinary gain of $716,000 in 1978.

Sales were a record $232 million, 16 per cent higher than 1977's $200 million.

"Despite a low level of construction activity in Eastern Canada, it is expected that the favorable trend in profits will be maintained in 1979," said a company statement.

Low levels of construction activity here will be offset by higher exports to the United States and increased sales from the Kingston, N.Y. plant, the statement added.

Power Corp.

Power Corporation of Canada Ltd. reported a 98 per cent increase in profits for 1978 to $51,611,000, or $3.94 a share, from $25,958,000, or $1.84 a share, in 1977.

Gross revenues for the corporation increased from $270 million to $290 million for the same period.

Earnings from Consolidated-Bathurst Inc. and The Investors Group aacounted for $14,107,000 and $20,519,000 respectively in increased profits. Power Corp.'s share of earnings from other subsidiaries and affiliates declined by $3,296,000.

The company attributed the profit increase from The Investors Group to its larger percentage ownership in the subsidiary.

Both Power Corp. and The Investors Group profitted from a change in the basis of accounting for The Great-West Life Assurance Co. The Investors Group's holding of Great-West also increased during the year from 50.1 per cent to 95.7 per cent of shares.

The company's board of directors also announced plans to subdivide Power Corp.'s equity shares on a 2-for-1 basis to encourage wider distribution of ownership. The board also declared regular quarterly dividends on first and second preferred shares, and decided to increase common share dividends from 15 to 30 cents a unit.

Reed Paper

Reed Paper Ltd. announced net earnings of $3 million in the year ended Dec. 30, 1978.

The company earned a gross profit on operations of $4.6 million of which $3.5 was attributed to its share of the earnings of joint-venture companies. The company incurred a net loss of $1.6 million.

In a news release, the company said considerable progress was made in the implementation of a recovery program that was announced in February, 1978.

The financial recovery of the company was aided by good market conditions for newsprint and fine papers, as well as the decreased value of the Canadian dollar, said the release.

The market for kraft pulp, the main product of the Dryden, Ont., mill, was poor during most of 1978. It was not until October that the market would bear an increase in price to $340 (U.S.) a ton from $300 (U.S.) a ton, a final price below the levels of 1975, 1976, and most of 1977.

Balco Ind.

Balco Industries Ltd. announced earnings of $5,080,347 or $5.50 a share on sales of $67.8 million for the year ended Nov. 30, 1978, highest in the company's history.

In 1977, Balco reported earnings of $2,515,063 or $2.50 a share on sales of $35.2 million.

Company president D. L. Balison said the increased earnings were due to a strong lumber market, improved demand for plywood and the exchange premium on the United States dollar.

Balco is a Kamloops-based company engaged in logging and the maunfacture of lumber, plywood and veneer.

General Trust

General Trust of Canada reported net profits for 1978 totalled $2,839,000, or $3.15 a share, up from $2,280,000, or $2.53 a share, a year earlier.

Gross revenues for the year were $70 million, compared with $62 million in 1977, a company statement said. Guaranteed deposits rose by $76 million to a total of $571 million.

Assets under administration now stand at $2.55 billion, an increase of $292 million over 1977.

Investors

Investors Group reported consolidated net operating income of $35.7 million on gross revenue of $75.2 million for 1978, compared with $21.5 million on gross revenue of $67.6 million for 1977.

After allowing for preferred dividends, earnings per share were $2.57 compared with $1.54 the previous year.

Earnings of the company, excluding Great-West Life Assurance Company and Montreal Trust Company bank loan and debenture interest, increased to $9.9 million, compared with $8.6 million in 1977, a statement from the board of directors said.

Integration For Domtar

MONTREAL (CP) — Domtar Inc. has acquired the linerboard, corrugated container and paper recycling operations of Reed Paper Ltd. in Montreal, Toronto, Mississauga, Ont., and Buffalo, N. Y. for $27 million.

Domtar spokesman John Gossip said the company plans to boost production at the money-losing Reed plants and integrate them with its own packaging production system without major changes in personnel or operations.

Reed president Donald McIver said the sale was "an important step" in efforts by the British-controlled company to "rationalize its commercial activities and reinforce its financial position."

Vestgron Mines

Vestgron Mines Ltd. reported unaudited earnings for 1978 were $3.7 million, or 86 cents a share compared with $5.7 million, or $1.35 a share for 1977.

Sales were $45.9 million compared with $42.8 million last year.

Zinc concentrates sold in 1978 amounted to 120,735 metric tons compared to 137,941 metric tons in 1977. Lead concentrate sales were 44,884 metric tons compared to 44,953 metric tons in 1977.

Reader's Digest

Reader's Digest Association of Canada Ltd. reported unaudited profits for the last six months of 1978 of $340,000, or 35 cents a share, up from $231,000, or 24 cents a share, a year earlier.

The company attributed the increase to "positive management action" to improve profit, and to continued high sales volumes. The gains were partly offset by losses during the postal strike last October.

Ford Motor

A fourth-quarter slide lowered Ford Motor Co.'s 1978 profits by five per cent to $1.6 billion or $13.35 per share, but it was still the automaker's second-best year.

A nine-week strike at Ford of Britain more than offset the effects of a 13.2-per-cent jump in full-year sales to a record $42.8 billion.

The strike, which began in late September, was blamed as the main cause of a 28-per-cent drop in fourth-quarter profits to $282 million or $2.35 per share on record sales of $11.2 billion, up 11 per cent.

The 1978 results compare with 1977's record profits of $1.7 billion or $14.16 per share on sales of $37.8 billion, the previous sales record.

The fourth-quarter performance compared with record profits of $393 million or $3.32 per share a year earlier, on sales of $10.1 billion, which was Ford's previous sales record.

RSP options explained
If you're thinking about a Retirement Savings Plan, you probably need advice right now.
Well, here's the place to get it—Montreal Trust, one of Canada's longest established trust companies.
We have people who know how to explain RSP's clearly and concisely. We'll tell you about all the different options available to you. And what they mean in terms of interest, taxes and retirement benefits.
With a Montreal Trust RSP, you can choose from five different investment sections (including the Mortgage section—not available with most RSP's), and invest in some or all of them. You can transfer from one section to another to take advantage of market trends. You can even choose your own portfolio of securities, if you wish, with a Self-Directed RSP.
At Montreal Trust your money starts working fast. And, unlike many RSP's, there's no entry fee.
But there's not enough room here to tell the full story. Why not drop in at your nearest branch, and we'll explain the whole thing.
Remember, you must invest before March 1st if you wish to claim your contribution on your 1978 tax return.

Hydro 'Not Above Law'

CRANBROOK (CP) — British Columbia Hydro will not be allowed to make a decision on its proposed Kootenay River diversion without approval from the provincial government, Premier Bill Bennett said Saturday.

"B.C. Hydro is not above the law in this province," Bennett told a group of protestors here at regional Social Credit party meeting.

Bennett told representatives of the Riverlands Conservation Committee that the diversion, a study of which he said was ordered by the previous New Democratic Party administration, is not a priority with his government.

The proposal calls for diversion of water from the Kootenay River into the Columbia River to supply hydroelectric projects on that river. The committee argues that such a diversion would harm both river systems and cause ecological damage in the Columbia Valley.

Crew Sought ITF Help

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Korean crew of a Liberian-registered freighter initiated action that led to the seizure of the ship in Vancouver's harbor, a spokesman for the International Transportation Federation said Saturday.

Andrew Boyle said his group has launched a civil suit in county court against the owners of the Flora in an effort to get about $250,000 in back pay for the crew. Federation lawyers are to appear in court today in an effort to gain a settlement.

He said the court action was necessary because the crew members could not take strike action under essential service regulations in Korea which prevent them from striking.

Boyle, who is based in Ottawa, said the 23 crew members approached his federation for help.

Essential Services Act Flayed at BCFL Rally

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — About 650 people gathered here Saturday to protest against expanded essential services legislations and to heed another call to convert their protest into action at the polling booth.

"It is time that working people got angry and expressed this anger at the ballot box," said Jim Kinnaird, president of the British Columbia Federation of Labor which has organized a series of rallies across the province.

He urged the audience to vote for the New Democratic Party and to turn out the present Social Credit government.

Kinnaird criticized expanded essential services legislation which removes the right to strike for most of the province's public-service employees.

He also attacked supporters of so-called right-to-work legislation which would undermine union closed-shop operations.

"Instead of right-to-work, let them reduce unemployment," said Kinnaird. "Ten per cent of the cream of the nation is unemployed."

Don Garcia, representing B.C. longshoremen, said, "Public sector employees have never failed to provide emergency services."

TELETHON ASSURES HOSPITAL BY 1980

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Variety Club completed its 13th annual telethon Sunday with more than $1.41 million in pledges and cheques for a new children's hospital.

A club spokesman said the amount of money means it now is virtually certain the hospital being built in Vancouver will be completed by 1980. About $3.2 million is already in trust for the hospital fund.

More than 2,000 volunteers worked on the 21-hour telethon broadcast on British Columbia Television which was viewed by an estimated 200,000 persons at peak times.

The Variety Club, a show-business organization, assists more than 60 handicapped children's organizations in the province.

Tax Tips

Tax Tips are prepared for the Victoria Times by Revenue Canada. Detailed tax information can be obtained from the local Revenue Canada office, 1415 Vancouver St. by phoning 386-2176 between 8:15 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday to Friday.

Q. My wife and I have a joint bank account. My wife deposits money into the bank account from some of her earnings. The T5 slip is made out in joint names. Do I declare the income on my tax return or does my wife declare it on her tax return, or should we divide the interest income, declaring half of it on each of our returns?

A. If you and your wife deposit equal amount of your respective earnings, then the interest is earned equally. If one of you deposits more than the other, then that person should report a larger share of the interest. See Item 12 of the 1978 Tax Guide.

Q. If our child cannot be claimed as a dependant, who reports the family allowance?

A. In this case, the person to whom the cheque is payable must declare the income.

Q. What kind of expenses are deductible for child care?

A. Deductible expenses include costs of baby-sitting and day nursery care, and up to $30 per child per week for lodging paid at a boarding school or camp. Payments for such items as food, clothing, transportation, education or medical care are not considered to be child care expenses.

Q. How do I complete Schedule 9 to claim "eligible deductions" transferred from my spouse?

A. First determine your spouse's "net income" by completing Part A of the Schedule, giving details of you spouse's income and deductions. Complete the calculation or "eligible deductions" by following the steps outlined in Part B of the Schedule. Remember to transfer the amount of "eligible deductions" to line 55 on page 2 of your income tax return. For more details, see Guide Item 43 of your 1978 Tax Guide.

Q. If a wage earner for example moves in 1978, how does he determine if he qualifies for the moving expenses deduction? Briefly what are the rules?

A. The most important rule to keep in mind is that moving expenses may be deducted from income if you move to a new residence to earn wages in another location in Canada, providing that the new residence is at least 25 miles closer than your former residence is to your new place of work, and that you will not be reimbursed by your employer. You must have ceased employment at your former location. You should also remember that moving expenses may be deducted from income earned at your new place of work or business.

Q. I received a lump sum upon retirement. I do not want to pay tax on it at this time but would like to invest it so as to spread the tax over a number of years. Is there some way that this can be done?

A. Yes. A person may be able to use such amounts to purchase an income averaging annuity or contribute to a Registered Retirement Savings Plan. Any income earned will not be subject to tax until withdrawn.

Q. My wife receives interest from bonds which I purchased for her in her name. Is this interest considered to be my wife's income?

A. No. The interest is your income because you purchased the bonds from your funds. The same rule would apply to dividends on shares, interest on savings accounts and so on. It is the person who provided the money to invest who must report the income earned.

Q. I work for a transport company and travel regularly. What can I claim for away-from-home expenses when filing my income tax return?

A. If you are an employee of an airline, railway, bus or other transport company carrying goods or passengers and you are required to travel regularly away from the municipality or metropolitan area where you report for work, you may claim actual expenses for meals and lodging while away minus any amount you are reimbursed or entitled to be reimbursed by your employer. Information from your detailed records should be shown on form TL2 and filed with your return. There is an Information Circular 73-21R3 available at your District Taxation Office on this subject.

Q. I bought a Canada Savings Bond some years ago and this year I received cash bonus. Should I report this as interest income?

A. The cash bonus is eligible for the Interest, Dividends and Capital Gains Deduction and may be reported as either a capital gain or interest. It may be to your advantage to report the bonus as a capital gain on Schedule 2 as only one-half of the bonus will be included in your income. With your return also include form T600C which indicates the total cash bonus you should report.

Hollett to Carry Socred Flag

DUNCAN — Rex Hollett, a North Cowichan alderman, has been nominated as the Cowichan-Malahat Social Credit candidate in the provincial election expected this year.

A well-known proponent of industrial development in the Cowichan Valley, Hollett defeated Richard Ewing, a resident of Cobble Hill who serves as Finance Minister Evan Wolfe's executive assistant, on the first ballot Saturday.

A former Victoria resident, Phyllis Whittome, dropped out just before the voting began. She said a leg injury has prevented her from properly campaigning.

Voting tabulations were not released but observors said the ballotting was close.

Current MLA for the riding is Barbara Wallace of the New Democratic Party. The NDP has held the riding since 1952.

BAND MALL CONSTRUCTION SET

DUNCAN — Construction is due to start next month on the Village Green Mall, a $1 million Cowichan Indian band development.

The 27,000-square-foot mall, to be built on Indian-owned land close to the present Duncan Mall, is scheduled to open in September.

Owner of the new mall is Cowichan Mini-Mall Ltd., established by the Cowichan band council to undertake real estate development projects.

Village Green Mall will consist of three buildings with entrances from an open courtyard.

Simpsons-Sears operations will relocate at the mall and a major pharmacy outlet will be established.

No Gas Rationing Seen This Year

Times News Services

Federal Energy Minister Alastair Gillespie says Canada is in no imminent danger of fuel oil or gasoline rationing this year and perhaps not "even a year from now."

He gave these assurances Sunday after having disclosed in the Commons last week that he had learned Exxon International wanted to move to divert from Canada Venezuelan oil shipments to its Canadian affiliated company, Imperial Oil Ltd., at a planned rate of 25,000 barrels a day.

In a television interview Sunday, Gillespie said that while Canadians may not be facing a rationing situation they will be paying more for oil and gas. The higher prices will result from supply and demand pressures resulting from the drop in production coming from Iran's oil fields.

He introduced a bill into the Commons Friday authorizing the government to act to allocate supplies of oil and gas and to impose rationing if necessary.

Parliament began debating the bill today.

Gillespie said there was a possibility of the current energy situation affecting Canadians "painfully" but it was east of the Montreal refinery area that would be seriously affected.

He said by the end of this year Canada may be getting some oil from Mexico. It will be first delivered against an undertaking Mexico has given Canada to guarantee this country 100,000 barrels a day by the end of 1980.

In the Commons, Gillespie had sharply rebuked Canadian Imperial Oil for accepting the Exxon move to divert supplies of Venezuela oil headed for Canada. He warned the two companies that the Canadian government will not stand for such an action.

Sunday he said he was "not bluffing" adding "let's be clear about that."

"I think it is going to become very uncomfortable for Imperial Oil to operate in Canada unless Imperial Oil establishes the kind of direct contracting relatinship, dealing direct with Venezuela," he said. At present Imperial Oil deals with Venezuela through its parent company Exxon International. Canada wants Imperial to deal direct.

Gillespie said the new shortage had alerted Canadians to a situation which he had been predicting for some years. That was why he was anxious to divert Canada's dependence away from the middle east to western hemesphere sources such as Venezuela and Mexico.

He said it was also now important that the gas pipeline be extended down east. It was important to provide security of supply for Canadians.

GORGE TROUT PROJECT

Gov't Assistance For Mother Nature

By MARK HUME
Times Staff

The amazing thing about the three-pound trout Don Peterson held in his hands wasn't its beauty, but rather that it could look that way after having been hatched in a dirty little creek and raised in the polluted Gorge waterway.

"It is incredible," agree Peterson, a Fish and Wildlife Branch employee who's working on the project to restore sea-run cutthroat trout to the Gorge.

He turned the fish slightly so that the light caught its yellow sides, the pale pink aura on its gills and the clean white belly. Its back was dark green and looked speckled with tiny splashes of India ink.

Peterson slid the fish, a ripe female, into a plastic, water-filled garbage can alongside six others just like her, though smaller.

Next came a big male, slightly hooked in the upper jaw, solid to the end of his square tail.

"The females have prettier faces, but they're all beautiful fish, that's for sure," said Peterson as he slid his fingers along the belly to see if it was ready to spawn. "Of course I'm prejudiced; I've been working around them for the last six months and I can really appreciate it."

Peterson, who works in the fish culture section at the Abbotsford hatchery, is charged with producing the seed stock for the branch's Gorge project.

Other members of the branch are involved in stream rehabilitation on the Colquitz (and on the Craigflower if Victoria's city hall approves greater water storage in Thetis Lake), and in trapping the mature fish when they return to spawn.

Last Friday Peterson visited the pens that are holding the mature fish captured in the two creeks and selected those that were ready to spawn.

From a school of about 30 trout he picked out more than a dozen that were ready. From five anesthetized females he stripped an estimated 7,500 eggs, pouring the tiny orange globes into a plastic bowl. Then the males were milked.

The contents of the bowl were gently stirred and then water, the catalyst, was added. Life had begun again.

For trout in the Colquitz and Craigflower systems that has become an increasingly hard proposition in recent times. The streams have been badly degraded over the years; polluted with chemicals and other deadly agents, cluttered with old mattresses, shopping carts . . . the discards of modern society.

So the government has stepped in, to assist in what Mother Nature used to do so well all by herself.

Peterson said he was hoping for between 20,000 and 30,000 eggs from the Colquitz-Craigflower stock this year.

After the bad eggs have been weeded out and diseases of various kinds have taken their toll, the branch should have 10,000 to 15,000 smolts to release back into the system.

The young fish, air-lifted to the Mainland as fertilzed eggs, will be planted back in the streams in mid-April or early May.

Fifteen thousand trout sounds like a lot of fish, but Peterson says it's not.

"The Gorge could obviously support a lot more — but those streams, that's where we lose them."

In three to five years the sea-run cutthroat that started life in a plastic bowl on the tail gate of a pick-up truck will be nosing there way back into the Colquitz and Craigflower.

Peterson hopes that by then the two small streams that feed the Gorge will have been rehabilitated to the point where the fish can breed the way they were meant to — without the government as a go-between.

Measles Outbreak in City

A serious outbreak of rubella has hit Victoria, regional health officer Dr. Allan Arneil said today.

He said there have been 14 positive identifications in the last six weeks of the disease, also known as German measles.

Most of the cases involve young adults. Normally, two to four cases are reported each year.

Arneil said checks with virologists in Vancouver show that Victoria is the only place in the province reporting a marked increase in cases of the air-borne virus.

He said, however, this could be because doctors in the Capital Regional District are more on the alert for the disease, which has mild symptoms, such as a rash, sore throat, runny nose, headache and swollen glands.

Three of the rubella cases reported here involve pregnant young women, Arneil added.

He cautioned that women of child-bearing age should have a blood test to ascertain whether or not they are subseptible to rubella.

Arneil said that 50 per cent of children born to women who have had rubella during the first three months of pregnancy are handicapped.

If subseptible, women of child-bearing age can be immunized against rubella but once pregnant, immunization is impossible.

Burglary Rash Reported

Two youngsters caught emerging from the Bay department store over the weekend will appear in juvenile court charged with breaking and entering.

City police said the incident was one of more than a dozen burglaries and prowling incidents reported since Friday, mostly on the north side of Victoria between Gorge, Haultain and Cedar Hill.

Police responding to a reported break-in at the CBC studio construction project on Kings Road found three children aged six and eight trying to move a shopping cart they had loaded with building materials.

Merchant Vows Push On Marguerite Hours

Victoria merchant Ella Small says she will continue her campaign to get longer visiting hours in Victoria for the Princess Marguerite despite a negative response to the idea from Tourism Minister Elwood Veitch.

She said she has phoned dozens of local businesses and most support her campaign.

Small made her comments in the wake of an announcement by Veitch that the Marguerite will start her Victoria-Seattle run May 1, 18 days earlier than normal. Veitch said destruction to the Hood Canal bridge by a storm last week created a need for the earlier start.

Small wants the Marguerite to stay in Victoria until 5:30 p.m. daily instead of returning to Seattle at 4:30 p.m.

That extra hour, she said, would have a significant impact on Victoria business.

Until 1975 the Marguerite left Victoria at 5:35 p.m. Arrival time has always been 12:30 p.m.

In response to a letter from Mrs. Small, Veitch wrote back that it is not possible to extend the Marguerite's hours.

"The extended hours of the crew and the customs officals at the dock in Seattle would be expensive," Veitch said.

"We had a great deal of criticism and a lot of people cancelled because of the extremely long day made by returning to Seattle well past 10 p.m. The time of the return now seems to be ideal — with dinner being served on board and docking in Seattle between 8 and 9 p.m.

"As you know, we had a record year for the Princess Marguerite in 1978 and the new hours are part of the reason for the success," Veitch wrote.

Mrs. Small said tourists often complain that they no sooner get downtown than it is time to return to the Marguerite.

Boozy Break-In Charged

Saanich police charged a 24-year-old man with breaking, entering and theft after the Borden Street liquor store was smashed open early Saturday.

Gustav Frederick Thorsell, 444 Vincent, elected trial before a judge and was remanded to June 29 for a preliminary hearing.

A witness told police two men were seen leaving the building with bottles of liquor after the front door was kicked in.

Nearby, police found a house party in progress and seized several bottles of wine, liquor and beer.

But Still No Island Highway Bypass

THE ISLAND HIGHWAY, sorry old beast that it is, has limped along year after year with minimum attention. Once in a long while, a work crew has flung a shovelful of blacktop into the permanent pothole between our place and Nick's next door. They've got around to building a new Black Creek bridge, which is good, and put in a disastrously dangerous passing lane just north of Oyster River, which is very bad indeed.

What we burghers strung out on either side of the highway from Courtenay to Campbell River want is a bypass between the two towns — one that would take much of the appallingly heavy traffic load which the existing highway carries.

Talk of that bypass has been blowing in the wind for years. Its right-of-way, we hear, has been surveyed well inland, and most of the property needed for it acquired by the highways people.

When we learned last year that the highways department was eyeing our communications link, our hopes spired. At last, we thought, they'll get around to the bypass.

Then a matter of weeks ago, a concerned up-Islander made public a letter received from Highways Minister Alex Fraser.

"Final decisions have not yet been made," the letter read in part, "but it does look as though the most appropriate solution, considering all factors, is to widen the highway."

This was precisely the under-informed, slipshod and trouble-making decision we'd dreaded. Widening the present highway, which we took to mean four-laning it either all of a piece or in stages, would be the equivalent of putting a pig on skis.

The plain fact is that there's simply not room for a four-laner along the present cluttered Island Highway route. And even if it could be achieved, at a grim cost in expropriations and dislocations, it would merely compound the dangers of the present killer-route.

What better guarantee of more blood on the blacktop than four fast lanes intruded upon by 45 points of entry each mile?

There are other factors, at least one of which Campbell River has finally and uneasily become aware. A four-lane highway whistling through that already badly-split town like a dose of salts would be absolutely no help to the stop-and-shop tourism upon which Campbell River depends for a healthy share of its income.

With all this sizzling in our craws, we turned out about 70 strong for a confrontation with the minister, who had come north on the invitation of local Social Crediters to attend a dinner at Campbell River's Haida Inn.

Our reception, for which I must grant in fairness that Fraser wasn't responsible, did nothing to improve our tempers.

First, the plane carrying the minister arrived late. He sat down to dinner at approximately the time pre-set for our meeting with him.

The Inn management didn't help matters either, by failing to provide us with a sufficiency of folding chairs. While the minister worked his way from soup through dessert in good appetite, we were left to stand shifting from one foot to the other.

Finally we were taken notice of. The questions began to fly.

Fraser firmly disclaimed any intention to four-lane the highway. What was planned, he said, was to install "three or maybe four" passing lanes between Courtenay and Campbell River as a traffic easement.

But what about the bypass?

It became plain from the minister's words that the bypass must remain pie in the sky, although he would naturally report the feeling of the meeting to his highways department engineers.

It was all distressingly like pounding a feather-stuffed pillow, and I came away from the session with a gloomy feeling that in terms of our particular highway, the minister didn't know which way was up.

As a sunshine kid, I would dearly like to end this report on an up-beat. But under the circumstances, that doesn't seem indicated. In fact, unless a miracle akin to the one that struck St. Paul on the Damascus road overtakes Alex Fraser, our highway situation can only go from bad to worse.

Municipalities Lash Out At Vander Zalm

Recent criticism of B.C. municipalities by the provincial government and government interference in their financial and planning autonomy were attacked at a weekend conference in Esquimalt.

Delegates to the annual meeting of the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities (AVIM) were told that rebukes from Municipal Affairs Minister William Vander Zalm were an attempt to "take the pressure off the provincial government and put it on to local government."

The charge came from Abbotsford Mayor George Ferguson, this year's president of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, who said municipalities and regional districts "can no longer ignore the many statements coming from the minister."

In the past six weeks, Ferguson noted, municipalities have had their mill rates frozen, a five per cent budget increase ceiling imposed, criticism about surpluses and reserves, and hints that council indemnities will be controlled.

"He (the minister) criticizes the salaries we pay our senior staffs; he has been pretty rough on regional districts; he tells us welfare costs are being decreased when in fact they are going up, and now he is wanting to develop uniform subdivision and zoning standards, and to speed up the development approval process."

On the question of municipal surpluses, Ferguson said sarcastically that when the province shows a $145 million surplus it is good management, but when municipalities accumulate a modest surplus from good management it is termed a hoarding of taxpayers' dollars.

On the budget controls, he pointed out that last year the average municipal budget rose about seven per cent over 1977 while in the same period the provincial government's budget rose more than nine per cent.

"Does the provincial government intend to adopt the same restraint attitude against itself?" he added.

Ferguson said municipal salaries should be a matter for individual councils to determine, and he believes senior municipal staff salaries are in line with those paid in the public and private sectors.

As for Vander Zalm's complaint last week about the delays involved in obtaining development approval, he said, "we are not all as bad as the minister makes out.

"Obviously land developers who do not get their way have been crying on someone's shoulder," he added.

Port Alberni Ald. Goerge McKnight said in an interview Ferguson expressed the feelings of many municipal councils which have been angered by Vander Zalm's sniping attacks.

AVIM officers elected for 1979 were:

Comox Mayor George Piercy, president.

Victoria Ald. Murray Glazier, first vice-president.

Refrigerator May Hold Key To Your Life

The program, called Vial of Life, comes here following successful pilot projects in New Westminster and the U.S.

The idea of the program is to assemble in the home — specifically on and in refrigerators — important health care information ambulance attendants should know during emergencies.

Proper care is more easily provided if attendants are aware of the patient's medical history. Paramedic units have the equipment and skills to give medication during an emergency, but too often find the patient unconcious with no medical background or identification.

Vial of life kits supplied by the union included a plastic container, information sheet and decal. Medical histories are inserted in the vial which is placed in the refrigerator. The decal is attached to the fridge door to tell ambulance crews the information is inside.

The fridge is the perfect place to keep medical records because every home has one and it can be located quickly during an emergency.

Groups interested in helping distribute the kits should contact the Ambulance Employees Union Vial of Life, P.O. Box 5062, Victoria, B.C., V8R 6N3.

Jab for Small Business

ABBOTT

The federal government is not doing enough to help small business, Tony Abbott, federal minister of national revenue and small business, was told at the Liberal convention.

Abbott, who addressed a session on economy during the convention, also heard criticism from delegates that the government is borrowing too much money.

Abbott said Canada has the best job-creation record in the world and the job-creation capacity lies mainly in small business.

He said the federal government has helped the small businessman through tax incentives and elimination of red tape.

Abbott also was told that large corporations which can afford massive advertising campaigns have an unfair competitive advantage over small businesses.

Responding to criticism that the government is borrowing too much, Abbott said the dollars borrowed from other countries have not been expended, but translated back to Canadian dollars.

In introducing the session, Environment Minister Len Marchand said the Liberals have had a fantastic economic record during the past few years.

Abbott said while the opposition Conservative party is painting a bleak picture of the economy, Canada's public deficit as compared with the gross national product has decreased to 18.9 per cent from 33.4 per cent in 1962.

Alex Patterson, chairman of the Canadian unity group for Quebec, said his group is preparing a communications and education program to fight Quebec's separation referendum.

He said Quebec's request for sovereignty association is a request for a mandate to dismantle the country.

Create a summer job-we'll share the cost.

EMPLOYERS — Here's a chance to add the summer staff you'll need to get those extra jobs done. You provide a worthwhile work experience for a young man or woman this summer and the Province of British Columbia will share the cost of wages with you.

You'll be working with the Ministry of Labour to create summer jobs that provide opportunities for B.C. students and unemployed youth to learn work skills. It's a simple system that requires a minimum of paperwork yet lets you help yourself and the economy in a positive way. British Columbia businesses of all kinds and sizes can benefit. Once your application is approved, you're free to hire any eligible young person or take advantage of the Ministry of Labour's computerized referral service to locate an employee with the talent and interest you require. But act today. The program is available for a limited time only. Should your situation change in the meantime, you are under no obligation. Here's how it works:

BUSINESSES AND FARMS — If your business or farm has been in operation for at least a year, the Ministry of Labour will help you pay the wages of up to five young people this summer. We will pay between $1.30 and $2.50 an hour as our share of the cost.

SOCIETIES — You are invited to apply for funding for any worthwhile project that provides an opportunity for young people to learn valuable job skills this summer. Tourism Information Centres that meet the standards established by the Ministry of Tourism and Small Business Development are also invited to apply for funds under this program.

HOW TO APPLY — Applications for funding are available from any Provincial Government Agent, Ministry of Labour Office or one of the B.C. Youth Employment Offices listed below.

New Grit Leader Lost in MLA Bid

The new leader of the B.C. Liberal party was defeated in his only previous try for political office in the 1975 provincial election.

And Jev Tothill, 49, is taking over a party whose fortunes in that last election were not much better than his own.

Former leader Gordon Gibson was the only Liberal MLA elected, and he resigned his North Vancouver-Capilano seat last month to become director of the federal Liberal party.

Liberal standing in the province has not always been so bleak. Five Liberal MLAs were elected in 1972, but three later switched to the Social Credit Party. Allan Williams now is labor minister, Pat McGeer is education minister and Garde Gardom is attorney-general.

Former Liberal leader David Anderson was defeated, leaving only Gibson in the legislature.

Tothill has not decided in what riding he will run. He said he would like to run in his home riding of Cowichan-Malahat, where he was defeated in 1975, but following his election as leader he said he would meet with party executives of the two vacant North Vancouver ridings.

Cowichan-Malahat currently is represented by the NDP's Barbara Wallace. As well as the North Vancouver-Capilano vacancy, there is an opening in North Vancouver-Seymour where former cabinet minister Jack Davis resigned after a fraud conviction last fall.

Tothill said B.C.'s confrontation-style politics are tearing the province apart so the Liberals must offer voters a clearly-defined alternative.

Prior to being elected, Tothill said he considered "this the first day in our march along the road to government in B.C."

He told convention delegates that:

—B.C. Railway, which he says has been used as a political tool by both the Socreds and the NDP, should be integrated with Canadian National Railways;

—An economic council should be formed, comprising representatives of both business and labor;

—The province's renewable resources, particularly forests, should be built up. The province is two million acres behind in its reforestation program, he said, and $100 million a year must be spent during the next decade to remedy this.

Tothill is a former member of the Cowichan Valley Regional District board and was an adviser on travel and tourism to Gibson.

He came to the Cowichan area in 1964 following teacher training at the University of B.C. and pioneered educational television at Cowichan senior high school. Tothill is married with two children.

BRAVERMAN
. . . urged breakaway

Motion To Split Defeated

A motion to split the Liberal party dominated the annual convention of the B.C. Liberal party during the weekend.

The convention also heard from several MPs that while a tough election fight is expected, the party will be returned to government in Ottawa.

Delegates soundly defeated the breakaway motion introduced by former provincial president Doreen Braverman.

While Mrs. Braverman stressed it was an organizational move and did not reflect dissension, delegates said they feared it would spell the end of the party in B.C.

Senator Jack Austin suggested the matter be studied by a committee and considered at next year's convention, but one delegate said to leave the matter hanging in a year where they will be a federal and provincial election "would eat away at the bowels of the party like a cancer."

Prior to the elections, Vancouver East Liberal MP Simma Holt said it was unfair to hold a leadership convention so soon after Gibson's resignation.

She said many potential Liberal candidates were already committed to the federal election campaign.

Resolutions dealing with children's rights and family law dominated debate Saturday, as delegates agreed that a ministry of the child should be established in B.C.

The delegates voted to approve a resolution that abortion be removed from the Criminal Code of Canada.

After much debate, a motion was passed that no person be forced to retire or denied employment because of age.

On Sunday, delegates defeated a resolution that drunkeness should disqualify a judge from sitting on the bench.

A motion that Fisheries Minister Romeo LeBlanc be asked to use the federal Fisheries Act to prevent further industrial development of the Cowichan estuary on Vancouver Island also was passed.

Senator Keith Davey, federal Liberal campaign chairman, told delegates Saturday the coming federal election is the most important in Canada's history, because the issue is Canada.

Fish Pact Attacked

VANCOUVER (CP) — The president of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (UFAWU) said Sunday that a telegram has been sent to federal Fisheries Minister Romeo LeBlanc urging the government reject a proposed West Coast fishing treaty.

Jack Nicol said his union and several smaller fishermen's unions and vessel owners' associations have signed the telegram opposing the tentative agreement reached Friday between Canadian and United States negotiators.

The proposed agreement calls for a phase-out of Canadian halibut fishing in U.S. waters during a two-year period and a similiar end to American rights to British Columbia groundfish.

Nicol said the two-year time frame is too long because groundfish stocks on B.C.'s West Coast already are depleted to the point where Canada cannot afford to trade them off any longer.

Lotteries Defended

CAMPAGNOLA
. . . no rip-off of poor

A recent report on Loto Canada, by the Consumers' Association of Canada is misleading and lacks solid research, says Fitness Minister Iona Campagnolo.

Mrs. Campagnolo said the report, which criticized the federal government for spending too much of its net income on advertising, does nothing to help buyers of the tickets.

"I always assumed that the Consumers' Association was interested in the well-being of the consumer, whether they consumed goods and services or lottery tickets," she said.

She said the lottery system is not a rip-off of the poor.

Most buyers of the $10 Loto Canada tickets are in the $15,000 to $30,000 a year income range, she said.

Mrs. Campagnolo said if the association wants to do a study on the impact of gambling, it should begin with church-basement bingos and racetrack betting as well as lotteries.

The report said only five per cent of the lottery funds collected are being spent on amateur sports, which was the main target for help when the program was announced.

Look what Bobcat offers.
Foreign exchange rates have contributed significantly to the price increases of most import cars. When you combine Bobcat's low price with its long list of standard equipment, what you've got is one of the best values going.

In addition to the standard features listed here, every Bobcat offers the kind of fuel economy needed these days. Plus responsive road handling and the quick-start dependability of solid-state ignition.

See your Mercury dealer soon for your choice of the seven different Bobcat models, including the 3-door Runabouts. And while you're there, ask your dealer about ESP, the optional Ford Extended Service Plan.

Bobcat Special
And for an even lower base price, ask your Mercury dealer about the sassy little Bobcat 'Special' 2-Door Sedan. Rack-and-pinion steering, full wheel covers, floor-mount 4-speed transmission, 2.3 litre OHC 4-cylinder engine, and bucket seats are all included as standard equipment.

Opening lead — ten of clubs.

This extraordinary deal occurred in the match between Argentina and Italy in 1963. It was played on Bridge-O-Rama before a huge and enthusiastic audience.

Santamarina and Attaguile were North-South for Argentina when the sequence shown took place. North's pass of six hearts, an obvious cuebid, was astounding, to say the least. Spades had previously been agreed upon as trumps, and South's diamond and heart bids merely showed first-round control of those suits.

Attaguile's six heart bid strongly invited North to bid seven spades with appropriate values. The heart cuebid might have been based on A-x, or even a void!

Perhaps North was so deeply engrossed with trying to decide whether or not to bid seven spades that he did not realize, when he passed, that South's last bid was six hearts, not six spades.

But, whatever the reason, Santamarina's pass was surely one of the most serendipitous bids ever made in a world championship event. The trumps were divided 3-3 and Attaguile had no difficulty at all snatching twelve tricks with hearts as trumps. Six spades almost surely would have failed.

When Italy later played the hand, they got to six spades and went down one. The Argentine West led a club. Declarer took the ace, discarding a diamond, drew trumps, cashed the A-K-Q of hearts, then played the ace and a low diamond.

At this point, South could have made the slam by playing the diamond eight from dummy, but he did not know that East had the king and that it was now alone. He lost dummy's queen to the king and later lost another diamond trick to go down one. As a result, Argentina gained 1,030 points on the deal.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Astrological Forecast for Tuesday, February 20
By SYDNEY OMARR

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You're not "trapped." There are options, you have choices. There is more than one course of action. Aquarius, Scorpio persons figure prominently. Long-distance message provides needed information. Pursue educational project.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20): Take one "extra step." You are closer to pay dirt than might be imagined. A bit of effort now changes employment situation — for the better. Health improves as emotional-mental pressure is relieved. Gemini helps where money is concerned.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Get together with Taurus. Financial picture will be brighter. Be diplomatic, thorough, aware of legal requirements. If single, there is talk of marriage. If married, spouse wants some changes on home front. Yes, do make intelligent concession.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): You get information which had been delayed. You learn about image as contrasted to reality. Avoid brooding, yes, you can be temporarily disillusioned without being bitter. Attend to basic issues. Pisces individual could become valuable ally.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): You're "involved". Nothing is halfway. Business and emotions run thick-and-heavy. If playing games, get going — far away. If serious, this day could be your cup of tea. Know it — act accordingly. Accent on change, analysis, special relationship — and passionate responses.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Emphasis on home, security, basic issues, safety measures, closing of transaction. Aries, Libra figure prominently. One you regard as "shy" is going to surprise you. Utilize past lessons. Go by the book — follow rules, regulations.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Stress originality, optimism and creativity. You make new start in new direction. A Leo helps spark interest in your activities, product, dreams. Short trip is on agenda. Relative expresses curiosity. Be gracious, but discreet.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Spotlight on what you own, what you can purchase or sell. Follow through on intuitive flash. Stress sense of direction, recovery from siege of malaise. Don't be afraid to bargain. Speak up for principles, beliefs.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): You get "breaks". Means pieces fall into place. Cycle is high — you make valuable contacts. Take initiative. Independent course of action is most likely to succeed. Another Sagittarian — and a Gemini — figure in scenario.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Secrets, romance, clandestine meetings dominate. Temporary confinement is blessing in disguise. You can read, write and benefit from emotional respite. Being alone is not being lonely — you'll know it. You get specifics on how to do what is necessary for advancement.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Accent on reward as result of special, civic or government assignment. You get what you want — and need. Gemini, Virgo, Sagittarius persons figure prominently. Relationship intensifies. This could be the start of "something big."

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20): Take firm, direct steps — goal is in sight. Accent on business, reward potential, responsibility. Taurus, Libra, Scorpio persons figure prominently. Adjustment on home front is indicated. Money is "coming your way."

IF FEBRUARY 20 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you tend to be sensitive, moody; you are fond of food, basic comforts and you have digestive problems. Cancer, Capricorn persons play key roles in your life. May could be your most important month of 1979.

You are prescient, ambitious and have the kind of birth pattern that goes with wealth. You are protective, possessive and you can be a formidable foe. You are affectionate, attractive to the opposite sex — and you can be a fierce ally. You make important domestic adjustment in March.

"Okay. Uncle Frank sent the stamps to me, so I've taken half of them and one extra," Bruce declared. "I guess it's only fair to let you two kids have some."

Susan reached for the stamps the boy had left on the table. "Thanks a lot, but you didn't leave many," she told him. "How do we share them?"

Bruce smiled. "You take one third of what's there, and two extra," he replied. "That'll leave ten for Linda."

How many stamps in all?

Ramblers Survive Late Oak Bay Rally

Mt. Douglas Ramblers survived a late rally to edge host Oak Bay 40-39 in the final of the Lower Island high school girls' basketball championship Saturday.

Victoria High Tigers dropped Spectrum 48-34 to capture third place while Reynolds Roadrunners collected fourth spot and the final Lower Island berth in the Vancouver Island "AA" tournament by defeating Claremont, 65-51.

The top four teams enter the Island tournament that will start Thursday at Spectrum.

But under league rules fifth-place Spectrum has challenged Roadrunners for the final berth and a special playoff game is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at Victoria High School.

The British Columbia tournament is scheduled March 7-11 at Mt. Douglas and the University of Victoria.

Janine Prince and Adrienne Mason fired 10 points each to lead the Mt. Doug attack while Tracy Warman scored 13 for Oak Bay, which trailed 22-14 at half time but rallied to close to within one point on a last-second basket.

Victoria was led by a 19-point effort from Janet Lorimer.

Marie Williamson (22) and Karen McComber (20) set the pace for Reynolds.

At Campbell River, host Southgate defeated Parkland of Victoria 47-39 to take the Vancouver Island girls' "A" title.

IT'S TWO AGAINST ONE as Bobby Allison holds foot of Cale Yarborough while brother Donnie Allison uses helmet as club in combined effort, eventually successful, to down Yarborough in fight at end of Dayton 500 automobile race Sunday in Florida. Donnie, leading on last lap, lost chance of victory when his car was in series of collisions with Yarborough's machine.

CALE IS ALWAYS RIGHT, SAYS BOBBY

Speaking of Great Crashes

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "You look back at all the great crashes in history — Cale and Donnie, Cale and me, Cale and Richard Petty, Richard and David, Cale and David, Cale and Marcis, Cale and Buddy, Cale and McQuagg, Cale and Lee Roy.

"It's always seemed to come down to a deal like this. Cale is always right. It don't matter whether he was running first or second. He's always in the right," Bobby Allison said of the hard-charging Yarborough after a race-ending fracas between the Allison brothers and Yarborough in Sunday's Daytona 500.

Bobby Allison said he "just stopped to see what all the excitement was" after his brother Donnie and Yarborough crashed while running 1-2 and battling for victory on the last lap of the $600,000 stock car race. Instead, Bobby found himself fighting with the irate Yarborough, while his brother tried to join in.

Yarborough said he was provoked into throwing the first punch.

Officials broke up the fight, but the principals hardly were through sparring. Yarborough went through most of the unabridged dictionary describing the Allison brothers. The brothers, in turn, felt Yarborough was forgetting rules of the road.

"The car in the lead owns the race track," Yarborough said after a close victory last season when his blocking tactics were questioned.

"Now if that was true for Cale then, why ain't it true now?" Donnie asked.

Allison was in the lead going down the backstretch on the last lap when Yarborough made the move that Allison knew he would try.

Yarborough tried to zoom past on the inside, using the slingshot effect in the draft.

Earlier, Yarborough had tried it successfully, but for the last 55 miles he had been content to follow closely behind.

"I knew it was coming," Allison said. "Cale had made up his mind he would pass me low, and I had made up my mind he was gonna have to pass me high."

Television replays showed Allison moved over to protect the inside lane as Yarborough zoomed alongside — a textbook last-lap manoeuvre.

Their cars did not touch. Yarborough could have backed off and settled for second but that is not his nature. He kept the accelerator floored and veered back onto the track.

His momentum carried him into the side of Allison's car, and he bounced back off the track.

At that point, Yarborough's goal seemed to change. He steered right and rammed Allison. Twice more he repeated the sequence. Both cars had heavy damage, but still were heading straight ahead.

As they headed into a left turn (turn three), Yarborough was shown violently turning into Allison and holding his course as both cars plowed into the wall outside the turn. When Allison's trapped car hit the wall, Yarborough tried to wrest his free but could not.

"It's the worst thing I've ever seen in racing," Yarborough raged. "Bobby waited on us so he could block me off. It was evident. The films will show it. They double-teamed me."

The TV replays didn't show that.

"Naw, I didn't block him; I wasn't even close," Bobby said.

Bobby was about 500 feet ahead of the battle when it happened.

Richard Petty, who had been thinking about a distant third-place finish in Sunday's race, wound up with an unexpected victory, an unprecedented sixth triumph in the Daytona 500, but his first win since July 1977.

Petty, advised by his doctor to lay off racing for three months after a December ulcer operation, raised his career winnings to $3,180,596 with the $73,500 first-place prize as Darrell Waltrip took second ahead of A.J. Foyt.

Donnie Allison finished fourth, Yarborough was fifth and rookie Tighe Scott, who overshot his pit on his last stop, was sixth.

Munroe Takes Shamrock Post

By BILL WALKER
Times Staff

Bill Munroe is the new coach of the Victoria Shamrocks of the Western Lacrosse Association.

Munroe, who coached Victoria McDonalds to the Canadian Minto Cup junior championship in 1976, agreed Sunday to take over the post vacated by Nirmal Dillon last week.

Dillon, who had coached the Shamrocks for the last three years, resigned when it was suggested by the Shamrock board of directors that perhaps he needed an assistant coach to help him with his duties.

Dillon, who led the Shamrocks to two league championships and a second-place finish in his three years at the helm, said he would rather do it alone and, if the Shamrocks didn't want it that way, he would quit. He did.

When efforts to reach a reconciliation failed, the directors met and Munroe's name was put forward as the only nomination for the job.

Late Sunday night he agreed to take the position after meeting with club president Fred Wooster and general manager Leon Hall.

Hall said that Munroe took the post on one condition — that he could have an assistant. "He feels he needs one" said Hall, "and he will provide input to any list of names put forward by the directors."

In other words, no assistant coach will be appointed without Munroe's approval.

Munroe had been proposed as an assistant for Dillon when the coaching issue originally came to a head.

Hall said there had been no attempt by the directors to interfere with Dillon, but that a committee had been formed to work with the coach and Dillon knew this when he was re-appointed to the position this year.

It was that committee's recommendation to the directorship that Dillon have an assistant to help him in his duties.

Dillon, during his tenure with the Shamrocks, compiled a 49-20-3 record and last year took the team to the Mann Cup final.

Munroe coached in juvenile and junior lacrosse for several years before culminating his final season with McDonalds with the Minto Cup win in '76.

He then resigned, saying he wanted out for a few years, but he has kept his hand in by coaching in the minors and last year got involved as a coach and player with the Hampton Park Hustlers of the Senior B Lacrosse League.

Munroe is no stranger to many of the Shamrocks as several are former members of McDonalds.

Also, Kevin Alexander and Bob Cool, who have said they are not interested in playing again in Nanaimo and to whom the Shamrocks have been given permission to talk, were two of the key members of Munroe's 1976 championship team.

Hall also disputed a report that the Shamrocks had gone to the WLA draft meeting unprepared. "We had done our homework and knew what we were doing," he said. "We had talked to several players before the draft to see if they would be available and would come here or not. When they indicated they wouldn't come, why take them?"

Hall also said that Ron MacNeil, who has been offered the coaching positon with Nanaimo Timbermen, will talk to Nanaimo officials again in about two weeks.

There are 19 directors on the Shamrock board and 15 attended the meeting Sunday.

Black Hawk Coach More Comfortable

By The Canadian Press

Two victories in as many days would make any coach happy, but weekend victories over St. Louis Blues and Colorado Rockies were especially important to coach Bob Pulford of Chicago Black Hawks.

"We finally passed the .500 mark against the Smythe Division," Pulford said Sunday after his Black Hawks beat the Rockies 5-3. The wins gave Chicago eight victories, six losses and three ties in the 17 games against the teams in the Smythe division and moved the Hawks eight points ahead of Vancouver Canucks, who lost ground by dropping a 5-3 decision to New York Islanders on Saturday.

"That's nothing to brag about," said Pulford. "I told my guys at the beginning of the year we had to win in our own division, but the facts are this: we have not been playing well against our division. We play much better against the rest of the league.

"We can no longer come up with the excuses that we're not prepared or we can't get ready for the so-called weaker teams."

The Black Hawks aren't that strong themselves. Their 52 points in 56 games is the 10th-best total in the 17-team National Hockey League.

In the other NHL games Sunday, Montreal Canadiens clipped Buffalo Sabres 5-2, Washington Capitals tied New York Rangers 6-6, Philadelphia Flyers trimmed Minnesota North Stars 3-2, Atlanta Flames bested St. Louis Blues 6-4 and Detroit Red Wings beat Pittsburgh Penguins 6-2.

Bob Murray, Reg Kerr and Cliff Koroll scored third-period goals in a 4:51 span to give Chicago its fifth consecutive victory over a Smythe opponent.

Rolf Edberg's goal with 5:45 remaining offset a three-goal performance by New York's Phil Esposito and gave the Capitals their tie with the Rangers. The 30th three-goal game of Esposito's career, extending his NHL record in that department, marked the 12th consecutive season in which Esposito has scored 30 goals or more.

In Vancouver, Islanders' Mike Bossy, Bryan Trottier and Bob Lorimer connected in a span of three minutes and four seconds to negate one of the Canucks' better efforts of the season.

The Islanders were led by the playmaking of Denis Potvin, who assisted on four goals, the two-goal performance of Bob Nystrom and steady goaltending by Glenn Resch, who faced 32 shots.

Philadelphia suffered a double loss Saturday. Goaltender Bernie Parent will be out of action for at least three weeks with an eye injury received in Flyers' 4-2 loss to the Rangers.

(Summaries on page 15).

Duncan Bows To Buckaroos

DUNCAN — Bill Pettinger and Bob Nicholson both fired two goals to spark Western Home Buckaroos to a 7-4 victory over Duncan Blades in South Island Big Six Hockey League action here Sunday.

Norm Allen, Stan Alstad and Gord Sturtridge also connected for the Bucks while Gene Wrigglesworth, Larry Meyers and Wayne Wrigglesworth, with a pair, scored for the home club.

Blades outshot the Bucks 43-31.

Sparkes Fires Up Under Pressure

By BILL WALKER
Times Staff

Saving his finest shot of the tournament for his final stone veteran Bernie Sparkes of Vancouver Sunday captured the Seagram Trophy and the British Columbia mixed curling championship at the Racquet Club.

Sparkes defeated Ivan Carlisle of Port Alberni in a tense battle, 6-5, with a steal of one in an extra end in the "B" final of the eight-rink, modified double-knockout competititon.

With each skip having one rock to play, and Carlisle with the hammer, the situation was this:

Carlisle had shot rock on the tee line on the right edge of the four-foot and almost completely covered. Only about an inch or so was visible. Sparkes had second shot in the front eight-foot and it was completely covered.

Sparkes had only one shot — that was to come around the guard and chip out the Carlisle stone. And he made it. He slipped by the guard with an inch to spare, hit and chipped the Carlisle rock to the back of the house, and now was shot.

It was a classic shot by a class curler, came when he needed it most and the pressure at the highest.

Carlisle, in turn, had only one play — to come around the same covering stone and draw to the four foot circle. He came out slightly wide and wound up inches heavy, giving Sparkes the victory.

It was Sparkes' fifth win without defeat and his second over Carlisle. On Saturday he defeated the Port Alberni shotmaker 5-3 in the "A" final after getting by defending champion Barry Smith of Kelowna 11-4. Later he won over Dave Smith of Juan de Fuca 5-2 in the "B" semi-final.

Dave Smith had rebounded from a near disaster — a 10-1 loss to Sparkes in the tournament opener — to defeat Ernie Strasdin of Prince George 9-6 and then eliminate B.C. men's champion Glen Pierce of Golden Ears 9-5.

Carlisle reached the "A" final with an 8-5 victory over Tom Vogt of Nelson and won his "B" semi-final by eliminating Barry Smith 6-3.

Sunday's final battle between Sparkes and Carlisle was close all the way. Carlisle got the jump with a 3-1 lead in the fourth, stealing a point when Sparkes fanned a takeout in centre ice. In the fifth, Carlisle faltered, missed his first shot and ended up giving Sparkes a chance for three. But Sparkes muffed a hit and stick and counted only two.

After Carlisle blanked the sixth they traded singles until the 10th when Sparkes, with the hammer, should have won it right there.

Carlisle, lying shot in the back eight foot, came out wide and slightly heavy with his last rock, giving Sparkes a chance at a double. Sparkes had a biter on the tee line in the 12 foot at the time and the double and stick would have given him a deuce and the game. But he was wide and got only one, forcing the extra end.

The defeat, while raising Carlisle's stature, also made him the new bridesmaid of B.C. curling. Two weeks ago he finished second to Pierce in the PCCA men's playdowns at Duncan.

For Sparkes, 37, it is his first mixed title. Nine times previously he has played in the men's nationals, being on winning rinks in 1966, 1968 and 1969.

His wife Lindsay who threw third rocks and was outstanding in the final two games, won the Canadian ladies championship in 1976 and this year again captured the the B.C. title and will represent the province in the Lassie at Montreal, Feb. 14-March 2.

Al Cook, who played second, was with Sparkes in the men's nationals in 1976 and 1978, while Dawn Knowles, the lead, is the regular third on Lindsay Sparkes rink and played that position in the Canadian championship year of '76.

The Canadian Mixed final will be played at Prince George, March 18-23.

BLOCK HAS LEAD

NORANDA, Que. (CP) — Jake Block of Abbotsford was saying Sunday that he had been the bridesmaid in West Coast curling many times but never the bride.

After Sunday's fourth round in the Canadian senior men's curling championships it looks as though he might just have caught the bouquet.

With two wins Sunday, he was alone in first place with four wins and no losses in the round-robin tournament.

Saskatchewan, New Brunswick, Alberta and Ontario were tied for second place with 3-1 records.

Chris Evert Back At Head of Class

Times News Services

Chris Evert, continuing her comeback after a shaky 1979 start, reclaimed her spot as the world's best woman tennis player Sunday with a 6-3, 6-4 victory over Martina Navratilova in the finals of the $150,000 Los Angeles tournament.

Evert's victory, following her triumph last week in Seattle, puts her at the top of the Women's Tennis Association rankings and sends Navratilova to second.

The victory was worth $30,000 to Evert, while Navratilova collected $15,000.

Whalers Lead In Tight Race

By The Canadian Press

Going into last weekend's play in the World Hockey Association, Winnipeg Jets and Edmonton Oilers were tied for first.

Coming out of the weekend of play, New England Whalers were on top.

The battle for the leadership of the WHA remains a closely-fought contest between those three teams, with Quebec Nordiques just on the edge of the fray waiting to jump in.

The Whalers moved back on top with a pair of weekend wins — beating the Jets 7-1 on Sunday after a 4-1 victory in Quebec on Saturday.

The Oilers kept pace with a 6-2 win Sunday at Birmingham Bulls, while Quebec followed its Saturday loss with a 4-2 victory against Cincinnati Stingers Sunday. Winnipeg also lost 6-4 to Cincinnati on Saturday.

Mark Howe led the New England attack on Sunday with a pair of goals and two assists as the Whalers struck for five goals in the third period en route to their victory over the Jets.

"We've been going in streaks and when we've been hot, nobody's been able to beat us," Howe said. "When we've been cold, just about everybody's beating us.

"Tonight I think our team played as well as we have all year."

The points for Howe moved him into second place in the league's scoring race with 84 points on 34 goals and 50 assists, four points behind Stingers' Robbie Ftorek.

Defence Is Real Name Of Wheat Kings Game

By ERNIE FEDORUK
Times Staff

Ray Allison and Brian Propp may be the heart of their offense, but Brandon Wheat Kings may have something better going for them.

Try the blueliners — Brad McCrimmon, Mike Perovich, Wes Coulson and Tim Lockridge.

They're not averaging a goal-a-game or better, like Allison and Propp, but the four defencemen are being tagged as the real but somewhat-overlooked power of the team that completely dominates the Western Hockey League with its remarkable 44-3-8, won-lost-tied record.

"Very true," agrees Brandon coach Dunc McCallum, "our team revolves around the defence."

One had to ask questions because it was Wheat Kings' defence, even without Lockridge, that kept everything under control Saturday as Brandon defeated Victoria Cougars 3-1 before 4,651 fans at Memorial Arena.

It is true the Cougars outshot Brandon 39-24. Acceptable, also, is the suggestion that Victoria deserved a better fate. Too many good chances misses, and et cetera, by the Cougars.

Fact is Victoria's best opportunities were, invariably, single thrusts. Seldom were there second and third chances because Brandon defencemen were quick to clean house in front of goaltender Scott Olson. For the same reason, there weren't many prolonged scrambles in front.

And from longer range, Victoria's hopes of scoring on deflections or screened shots were minimized because of excellent blocking by the Brandon rearguards.

And on offense, as well as defence, there is cohesion between Brandon's forwards and defencemen that is all too rare in junior hockey. No one will blame you if you lost count of the number of times the puck came out, quickly and smartly, to the Brandon point men from deep within the attacking zone.

Just as quickly and just as smartly, the Wheat King point men constructively directed the puck back into action, either with a pass to an unmarked mate or by a good shot on goal. Brandon's defencemen never waited for telegrams telling them what to do with the puck.

It was Coulson's quick release on goal that resulted in Propp's deflected shot that gave Brandon a 1-0 lead.

As good as they were Saturday, Brandon's defencemen are not super beings. Victoria captain Geordie Robertson twice took the puck away from a defender right in front of Olson, winger Mike Shields intercepted a pass made too casually, and Cougar centre Gary Lupul twice split the Brandon defence on rushes nullified by bad breaks. On the first, Lupul couldn't control a bouncing puck and on the second, late in the game, he tripped on something thrown on the ice by a member of the idiot colony.

In addition to Propp, Steve Patrick and Larry Roberts scored for Brandon. None of the three goals flattered Victoria netminder Steve Amiss because he refused to challenge the shooters. On Coulson's shot, Amiss stayed in his crease rather than move out and possibly block out Propp from getting his stick on the puck.

Patrick's shot was a long ice-slider from the blueline. Amiss had to make a move on Roberts, too quick as it turned out, because of a defensive mixup.

Archery Champs

Sager captured the boys' crown with a score of 973 out of a possible 1,200 and Barker earned girls' laurels with a 975 tally.

All of the winners set new records as more than 60 competitors took part in the event.

Eagle by Alcott Defeats Sandra

MIAMI (AP) — "It's one of the best putts I've ever hit under pressure," Amy Alcott said Sunday, describing the 25-foot eagle putt which gave her a sudden-death playoff win over Canadian-born Sandra Post in a $100,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament.

The end came on the 18th hole, the third in extra time. Ironically, it was an eagle by Post on that same hole in regulation play that forced the playoff. Both players finished with 73s on the day and 72-hole totals of three-under-par 285.

They were the only ones to break par in the competition.

Post's reaction to Alcott's winning putt?

"It was a screeching good putt," Post said of Alcott's winner. "It was a little fast, but it went in."

It was worth $15,000 to Alcott, with Post collecting $9,800.

Cathy Sherk of Port Colborne, Ont., making her first appearance in a pro tournament since gaining her tour card earlier this month, finished in a five-way tie at 300. Sunday's 73 was her best round of the tournament. She collected $706.

"To go to only one source is to pass up dealing with specialists"
"To go to only one source for your financing needs is to pass up the opportunity to deal with specialists who know their business, and, hopefully, yours.
"We use the usual source for lines of credit and day-to-day business needs, and RoyNat for special needs, such as long-term money, or equipment financing, for example. That's just common sense."

"I've seen three cases in my business career in which companies had the plug pulled by panicky lenders before they could be turned around.
"When I and my fellow employees of Canada West Shoe, which makes quality Western dress and work boots and shoes, decided to start this new venture we got our money from five sources—the employees, the bank, FBDB, DREE and RoyNat.
"The long-term funds came from RoyNat because I'm confident if things got rough they wouldn't be twitchy. They have the pulse of business across the country and understand companies have their ups and downs. And that's a real comfort when you're running a new venture."

SUE LEADS BAYS TO POLICE CROWN

Sue Walton scored 31 points — almost 65 per cent of her team's total — while leading Oak Bay to a 48-39 victory over Lansdowne in the final of the third annual Victoria City Police Athletic Association junior high school girls' basketball tournament Saturday at Belmont High School.

Walton was also picked as the most-valuable player in the tournament and selected to the all-star team along with Alison Snow, who set the pace for Lansdowne in the final with 14 points.

Arbutus captured third place in the tourney with a 44-32 win over Cedar Hill and Stelly's tripped Royal Oak 54-28 in the battle for fifth place.

Other members of the all-star squad were Jacki Lawrence of Lansdowne, Sheila MacKenzie of Oak Bay and Donna Carey of Royal Oak.

Named runners-up in the all-star voting were Laura Favor and Patti Purchess of Arbutus, Trish Wellman of Cedar Hill, Kelly Curtis of Reynolds and Lorna Mosher of Stelly's.

Vikings Trip Vic West

University of Victoria Vikings took over third place in the the first division of the Vancouver Island Soccer League by upsetting runner-up Victoria West 4-1 Sunday at Heywood Avenue Park.

Oak Bay had helped Vikings during Saturday's lone match by bouncing Cosmopolitan Royals, who formerly held the third berth, 3-0 at Royal Athletic Park.

In other Sunday contests, Gorge FC tripped Nanaimo City 3-1 at Hampton Park and Powell River Villas defeated Duncan Selects 1-0 in Powell River.

Dan Henry scored at 10 minutes to give Wests a lead but Jim Hunter connected for UVic on a cross from Marvin Diercks at 20 minutes to knot the count. In the second half, Jim Palm (65 minutes), John Leier (84) and Peter Zachary (87) finished off scoring for the UVic crew.

Gorge took a 1-0 lead at the half on a penalty goal by Paul Booth at the 18-minute mark. Goran Mehinagic added the other two goals — one a header on a cross from Howie Kirk at 54 minutes and the other on a cross from Josu Iruretagoyena at 63 minutes — for Gorge. Ken Maughan connected for Nanaimo during a goalmouth scramble at 78 minutes.

Roberts Signs For One Year

SEATTLE (AP) — Outfielder Leon Roberts, last season's most-valuable player for Seattle Mariners, has agreed to a one-year contract, the American League team has announced.

Roberts, 28, hit .301 with 22 home runs and a team-record 92 RBI last season, his first with Seattle.

THE CANADIAN SCOTTISH REGIMENT (PRINCESS MARY'S)
"If you want a dull, routine job, we are not interested in you. However, if you like challenging, exciting work like firing automatic weapons, throwing grenades, helicopter training, rappeling, mountaineering and more, then you may be just who we are looking for. Join the Canadian Scottish Regiment; try the infantry, you'll like it.
If you are male, 17 or older and physically fit, we want you. Come and ask some questions about serving in Canada's citizen army — The Militia. The work is part time, with some opportunity for full time employment. We're at the Bay Street Armoury on Thursday and Tuesday evenings from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. Ask for the Canadian Scottish Regiment."

Quebec's Carnival Until B.C.'s Strong Finish

BRANDON (CP) — As a fresh relay of athletes opens the second half of the Canada Winter Games today, provincial team leaders are wondering what Quebec will do for an encore.

The first half, which ended Saturday, looked like a western version of the Quebec Winter Carnival as La Belle Province topped the standings in four of the eight sports and was no worse than third in three others. The record was flawed only by a seventh-place ranking in hockey.

In terms of gold medals, Quebec had 15 to six for British Columbia, three apiece for Ontario and Manitoba and two each for Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. The other two golds belonged to Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island.

Quebec was unbeaten in badminton and table tennis, swept all three events in synchronized swimming and won seven of 10 races in speedskating.

B.C. took a modest run at the leaders Saturday, winning a pair of Alpine skiing races, the hockey and men's volleyball titles and the light heavyweight division in boxing to outscore them 5-4 on the day.

Ontario ended a four-day gold-medal drought with three winners in boxing, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick claimed two boxing titles apiece and Manitoba's women's volleyball team and light middleweight boxer Ken Johnson gave the home province a double victory.

B.C., which had split the slalom honors with Quebec Friday, emerged a clear winner in Alpine skiing as Felix Belczyk of South Castlegar defeated teammate Paul Bekken of Prince George in the final of the men's parallel slalom and Diana Haight of Rossland finished ahead of Pierrette Boulanger of Calgary in the women's final.

The B.C. hockey team, which had been dominant in the hockey tournament all week, outclassed Nova Scotia at both ends of the rink in Saturday's final to complete a six-game unbeaten record with an 8-0 victory.

It was all over when B.C. scored twice in the first 48 seconds, although goaltender Dan McFarland of Rossland had to block 40 shots to earn his shutout. Ontario defeated Prince Edward Island 4-3 to take the bronze medal.

A last-round showdown with Ontario, which had also won all its first 10 matches, gave Quebec the badminton title. The 6-3 score marked the first time in the tournament that the Quebecois had lost more than two games to an opposing province since the start of the tournament. Alberta was third with a 9-2 record.

B.C. reached the finals in both men's and women's volleyball and won the men's title by defeating Ontario 17-15, 10-15, 15-11, 15-13. Ontario had been the only team to emerge from the preliminary round without a loss.

The Manitoba women, beaten by Ontario in the opening round of the tournament Tuesday, rebounded with six straight victories, culminating with a 15-9, 15-4, 15-11 triumph over B.C. in Saturday's final.

Both Ontario and B.C. had five finalists in the boxing tournament and the eastern province came out on top as light flyweight Brian Robson of Hamilton, lightweight Don Poole of Toronto and welterweight Gord Apolloni of Sudbury won their bouts while light heavyweight Shane Anderson of Fort Nelson was B.C.'s only winner.

No gold medals are a stake today as preliminary competition starts in basketball, curling, fencing and racketball and the gymnasts go through their opening exercises.

Cross-country skiing begins Tuesday and the figure skating, judo, weightlifting and wrestling competitors go into action Wednesday.

TILDEN

NO-GIMMICK CAR RENTALS

Our rates are a pleasant surprise!

At Tilden, it's our policy for every station to have its rates printed and displayed—because we don't want you to think that we charge "what the traffic will bear"!

Also, we think it's gimmicky to feature absurd "come-on" prices when the real cost ends up being the kind of surprise you don't need—once you've figured it out! What we feature is what you pay!

So next time you need wheels, get them with no gimmicks—from Tilden. And as we include 200 kilometres on the house per day at most of our stations, we think you'll find our rates an even more pleasant surprise!

Featuring fine cars by General Motors.

FRANCE EDGES WALES

France edged title-holder Wales 14-13 and Ireland got another immaculate kicking display from fly-half Tony Ward to defeat England 12-7 in European Five-Nation Rugby Union championship matches Saturday.

In a fiercely-contested game at Paris, the score was level 7-7 at halftime and then France just had the better of a 13-point scoring burst in the space of eight minutes immediately after the interval.

At Dublin, Ward accounted for eight of his side's points with a penalty goal, drop goal and conversion.

To complete a dominant afternoon for the fly-halves, Neil Bennett, Ward's opposite number, scored all England's points with a try and a penalty.

Breeze for Legion

Esquimalt Legion of the Patterson Division breezed past Kerry Park Islanders of the Peart Division 11-4 Sunday at Mill Bay Arena in a battle between the two cellar-dwellers of the South Vancouver Island Junior "B" Hockey League.

In a Saturday game, Fuller Lake Flyers of the Patterson Division whipped Lake Cowichan Baird's Trucking of the Peart Division 8-2 in another interlocking contest at Lake Cowichan Arena.

Terry Parsons led Esquimalt with four goals, Russ Kennedy added two and singles were chipped in by Mark Eckstrom, Wayne Proceviat, Jim Entzminger, Kelly Bryant and Brett Johnson. Mark Jinnonchi, Andy Nash, Doug Jordan and Don McFarlane replied for Islanders, who trailed by period scores of 4-3 and 8-3.

Ron Allan blocked 32 shots on the Esquimalt net while Tony Burns and Dave Peters combined to make 44 saves for Kerry park.

Huskiette Girls Rescue Vikettes

University of Victoria girls will have to acknowledge a Huskiette rescue act, but the Vikettes have qualified for next weekend's Canada West University Athletic Association women's basketball championship series.

The defending champions slipped in the back door.

The conference-topping Calgary Dinnies defeated the Vikettes 73-59 Saturday in Calgary but Alberta Pandas, who could have picked off the second berth with a victory, dropped a tense, 60-57 decision to Saskatchewan Huskiettes at Edmonton.

Thus the Kathy Shields-coached Vikettes go back to Calgary this wee kto play the Dinnies for the right to represent the CWUAA in the national finals next month.

Vikings, meanwhile, dropped their second straight game to Calgary. Victoria, which had clinched first place earlier, has two games remaining in which to shake a case of turnoveritis that plagued the team at the weekend. Vikings committed 25 turnovers in an 83-81 overtime loss Friday. They gave the ball away 45 times in literally handing Calgary Dinosaurs an 88-78 victory Saturday.

With their seventh straight triumph, the Dinosaurs (11-7) retained hopes of overhauling Alberta Golden Bears (12-6) for the second and final playoff berth in the WCUAA men's final at Victoria, March 3-5.

Alberta stayed a game ahead of Calgary by tripping Saskatchewan Huskies 83-67 in Edmonton. In Vancouver, UBC Thunderbirds connected on 51 per cent of their shots to topple Lethbridge Pronghorns 90-74.

Lethbridge beat UBC Thunderettes 53-47 in a women's game.

Calgary's Holly Jackson-Pedersen scored 27 points and Laura Buehning added 13 as the Dinnies defeated the Vikettes.

Luanne Hebb scored 19 points while Michelle Belanger added 14 for a Victoria team that lacked its usual composure.

While the Victoria turnovers were the big factor, Calgary's aggressive rebounding also played a major role in the Dinosaur triumph over the Vikings. Calgary hauled down 52 rebounds to Victoria's 35 as the Dinosaurs overcame a 37-32 half-time deficit.

A message to parents

WHY SHOULD YOUR CHILD BE A TIMES CARRIER?

The living is pretty good these days. Likely you're making enough money to GIVE the children a nice allowance. So, why should your son or daughter manage a Times route?

Most any educator or business person will tell you why in three simple words . . . IT BUILDS CHARACTER . . . something that's lacking in lots of young people these days.

In many cases, the young person who grows up getting the weekly "handout" from dad or mom never realizes the value of money or the efforts required to make it and manage it!

Times carriers quickly learn valuable lessons that stick. Through route management, carriers learn responsibility and builds self-confidence at an early age and have an advantage over other young people that no amount of money can buy.

If you're still wondering if your son or daughter would benefit from a Times route, phone our Circulation Department at 382-3131 or write for details. One of our District Representatives will be glad to discuss route work with you.

And too, we think you'll find that our District Representatives are the kind of people you'll like to have your son or daughter associated with.

Parents . . . let us hear from you. Talk to us today!

SCOTT SELECTED AS TOP ATHLETE

EDMONTON — Debbie Scott, who set a pair of Canada West University Athletic Association records during the two-day meet, was selected as the outstanding athlete in the annual CWUAA indoor track and field championships.

Running for the University of Victoria, Scott won the women's 1,500 metres Saturday with a time of 4:24.4, erasing the former standard of 4:26.4. On Friday, Scott scampered to record clocking of 9:30.8 as she won the 3,000-metre event.

UVic's other flying Debbie — Debbie Campbell — also chalked up a pair of triumphs, winning Saturday's 400-metre race in 56.6 after taking the 800 metres the previous day.

Brent Fougner, second in the men's long jump Friday, collected UVic's only other medal during the meet, in which Alberta won both the women's and men's team titles.

Peter Butler of Calgary set a record in the men's 1,500 metres, finishing in 3:52.5.

PAM WINS PLAYOFF FOR CURLING TITLE

CALGARY — Pam Taylor skipped her University of Victoria rink to a 10-2 victory over defending-champion Saskatchewan in a playoff Saturday to win the women's section of the Canada West University Athletic Association curling championships.

The UVic rink, which included Sue Culley, Toni Hepburn and Paula Trask, finished round-robin play with a 4-1 record after beating Lethbridge 9-1. Barb Thompson's Saskatchewan quartet also wound up regular play with a 4-1 mark by downing Alberta 9-6.

Saskatchewan, skipped by Dave McCusker, won the men's crown with Victoria and Lethbridge, each with three victories and two defeats, deadlocked for second place.

Strong Showing By Canuck Pros

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Bruce Lietzke, the leader all the way in gorgeous desert sunshine, protected his front-running position with a two-under-par 68 and scored a two-stroke victory Sunday but for neighbors from the north, the big story in Joe Gargiola's $250,000 Tucson Open golf tournament was the prominence of Canadians among the leading money-winners.

There has never been such as strong Canadian showing in any Professional Golfers' Association tournament as the one Dave Barr of Kelowna, Jim Nelford of Burnaby and Dan Halldorson of Brandon managed here.

Barr, closing with a three-under 67, finished in a tie for ninth with an 11-under 269 total to win $7,000 — his biggest-ever payoff in any one tournament.

Nelford, with a 68 and 272 total, pocketed $3,750 for his 16th-place tie and Halldorson, 71 — 275, finished in the top 30 to pocket $1,232.

Lietzke, the tour's most successful cross-handed putter, claimed the fourth title of his career — and his second in Tucson — with a 265 total, 15 strokes below the listed par on the 6,708-yard Randolph Municipal course that played relatively easy. With the title, Lietzke collected $45,000.

The long-hitting Lietzke, 27 and in his fifth year of tour activity, took the lead with a 63 on the opening day and was never headed, never tied.

It was the first wire-to-wire triumph on the tour since Tom Watson won this tournament a year ago.

SCORPIONS SQUASH PUMPKIN IN FINAL

Scorpions captured the British Columbia senior "B" men's volleyball title Saturday by defeating Great Pumpkin 14-16, 15-9, 15-8, 15-2 in an all-Victoria final at the University of Victoria.

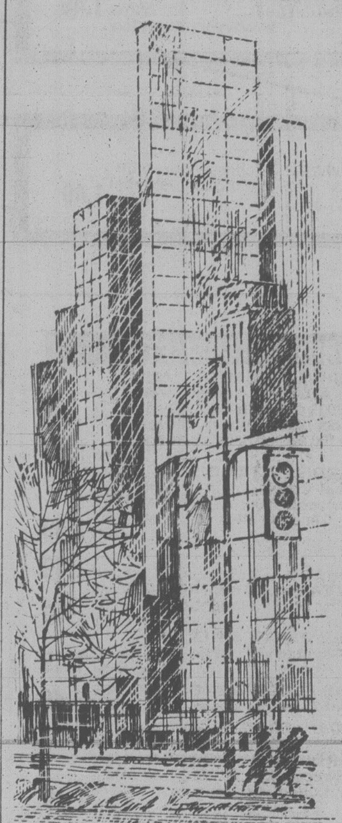
Scorpions topped Allenby Ford of Duncan 15-5, 15-1 in the semi-finals while Great Pumpkin advanced by ousting Cedars of Parksville, 15-13, 15-5.

Cedars finished third and were followed in order by Allenby and two Victoria squads, Multigrade and Nooksak.

Far West Swamp Grass of Victoria captured the women's title by beating Clippers of Vancouver, 15-5, 15-12, 13-15, 15-3.

Clippers gained the final by eliminating Lake Cowichan while Far West had a bye into the final of the five-team tourney.

THE WORST IN WINTER BRINGS OUT THE BEST IN HONDA.



Canadian winters aren't getting older, they're just getting colder. Or so it seems. But the worse they get, the more they seem to bring out in a Honda. Because once again this winter Honda Civics will help warm the hearts and toes and noses of more Canadians than any other small car.*

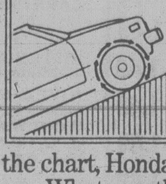
Why has Honda Civic become Canada's best selling small car in winter as well as summer? Perhaps it's the front wheel drive that lets you go dashing through the snow. Perhaps it's the manual choke that helps you get started on the coldest of mornings. Perhaps it's the electric rear window defroster. Or could it be the forceful 3-speed heater that warms the cockles of your heart?

On the other hand maybe Civics sell so well in winter because they're such a good buy. And everybody knows that nothing warms the heart like a good deal on a cold day. A deal that includes carpeting, fully independent suspension, rack and pinion steering, reclining bucket seats and four speed transmission as standard equipment.

1979 HONDA CIVIC FUEL ECONOMY FIGURES

HONDA MODEL	LITRES PER 100 KM	KM PER IMP. GALLON CITY/HWY RATING	ENGINE SIZE AND NO. OF CYLINDERS
CVCC 5 SPEED	6.2	72.8	1.5L 4 CYL.
CIVIC 5 SPEED	7.0	65.4	1.2L 4 CYL.
CIVIC 4 SPEED	7.1	63.8	1.2L 4 CYL.
CIVIC HONDAMATIC	8.2	55.3	1.2L 4 CYL.
CIVIC WAGON 4 SPEED	7.5	61.0	1.5L 4 CYL.
CIVIC WAGON HONDAMATIC	8.3	54.9	1.5L 4 CYL.

Remember, these figures are estimates based on Transport Canada approved laboratory test methods. The actual mileage you get will vary according to your driving habits, driving conditions, your car's condition and optional equipment. These estimates do, however, provide a useful mileage comparison guide for new car models.



Or maybe it's because on a cold winter's morning there's nothing like a hot coffee and a chat. And chances are that sooner or later you'll end up chatting with a Civic owner. And one Honda owner usually leads to another. Or perhaps Honda's winter success has come about by the nagging reminder of winter fuel bills. Because nothing adds fuel to the logic of owning a Honda like the high cost of fuel, itself. As you can see by the chart, Hondas are, as always, among the top rated mileage misers sold in Canada.

Whatever the reason for Honda's phenomenal winter success, it's best to see for yourself by taking a test drive at your Honda dealers. There's a good selection of Hondas available for immediate delivery. And there'll never be a better time to warm your heart with a good deal on the best selling small car in Canada.

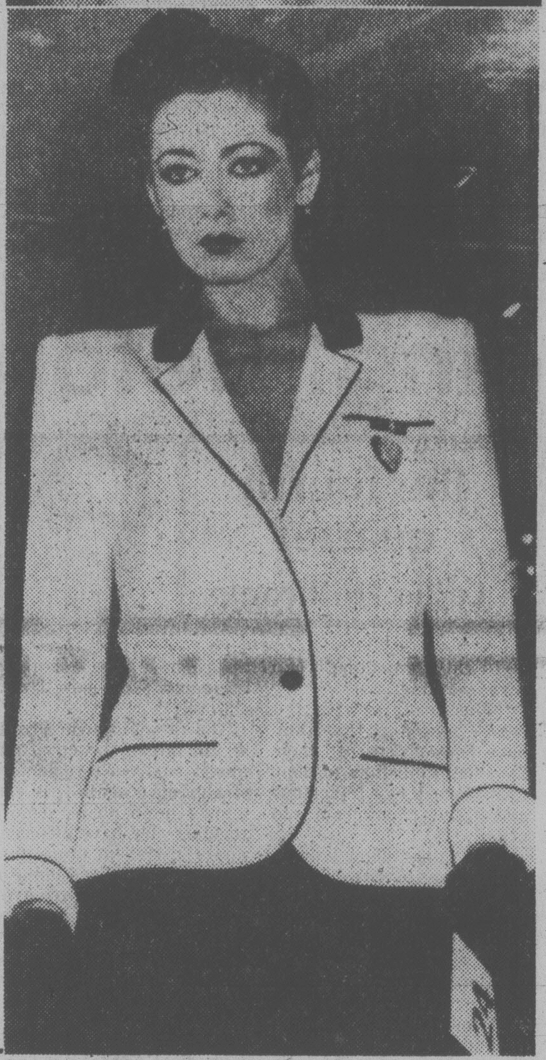
This pantsuit from Cardin has sharp shoulders and sashed waist



Neatly Bordered white jacket by Scherrer a step back in fashions

PARIS — Some women will believe what Paris has in store for spring, mainly those who haven't changed style for 30 years.

The Paris couture collections — the made-to-order clothes for which women from Duluth to Cairo yearned until the rise of ready- to-wear here in the 1960s — are on the boards. Now, of course, women can find clothes with a Paris label in their neighborhood hasherdasher.

Besides filling the wardrobes of the wealthy, the couture also prides itself on being a laboratory of fashion, proposing ideas that can shape the way women look all over the world.

This time the ideas recall the golden age of the silver screen. Those of you who push prams, prepare torts, feed computers or read blueprints, are you ready?

For Easter bonnets, sashed plethora of pleats, crisply tailored spring suits, a return of the spring coat and padded shoulders with such sharp edges they look as if they could cut your hand.

These are some of the recurring thoughts in the showings here that got under way with a reception for 400 people preceding Nina Ricci's presentation. The party was to celebrate the opening of the house's new quarters on the Avenue Montaigne, after 46 years on the Rue des Capucines.

The Ricci collection by Gerard Pipart introduced the vogue for pleats. There were coats with pleats, dresses with bits of pleating around the neckline, edging the puffed sleeves and bordering the hem, and jackets with pleated edges. There were sunburst pleated dresses, pleated skirts and evening styles with pleated tulle bodices, much like prom dresses of yore.

Hair was done in pompodours, feet were shod in high heel sandals and shallow caps were tilted over one eye.

The best styles were the coats in colors such as pale pink, raspberry or red, with deep armholes, belted waists and a nice, easy look.

The star of the Dior runway was the loose jacket, paired either with a skinny skirt or a pair of pants, that was always shown belted.

Back in the old days, it used to be called a swagger coat or a topper. Now it is sashed at the waist, though the model usually unbelts it and lets it fly. It is worn with ankle strap sandals, shoulder-length hair, and an art deco enamel triangle pinned to the beret.

An octagonal-shaped handbag in a bright color is a frequent accessory. Its strap hangs easily from the padded shoulders. Stockings have a stripe up the side like the ones on dinner suits.

This same jacket shape is done in leather, diagonally striped wools, and the elaborately beaded silks that Dior handles so well. Leather sashes appear also on plain and printed silk dresses and on coats.

Marc Bohan, the designer, is one who handles evenings clothes as effectively as he does tailored styles. He makes an effort to do young things.

His delicately printed white organdy bubble dresses. His puffy cloque laces and his long-torso, full-skirted styles could go to a sweet sixteen party. They balance the king's ransom embroidered styles in a collection that has something for everyone.

The Pierre Cardin show aroused enthusiasm in a lot of people who remembered his futuristic designs of the 1960s when he and Courreges led the couture into space age fashions.

Among his present ideas are the shoulders that somehow look like wings about to take off or jackets with the hangers still left in them. The shoulders mark the return of the suit, but far more effective are the strapless play dresses and party dresses that just billow around the body. A lot of his things are pleated.

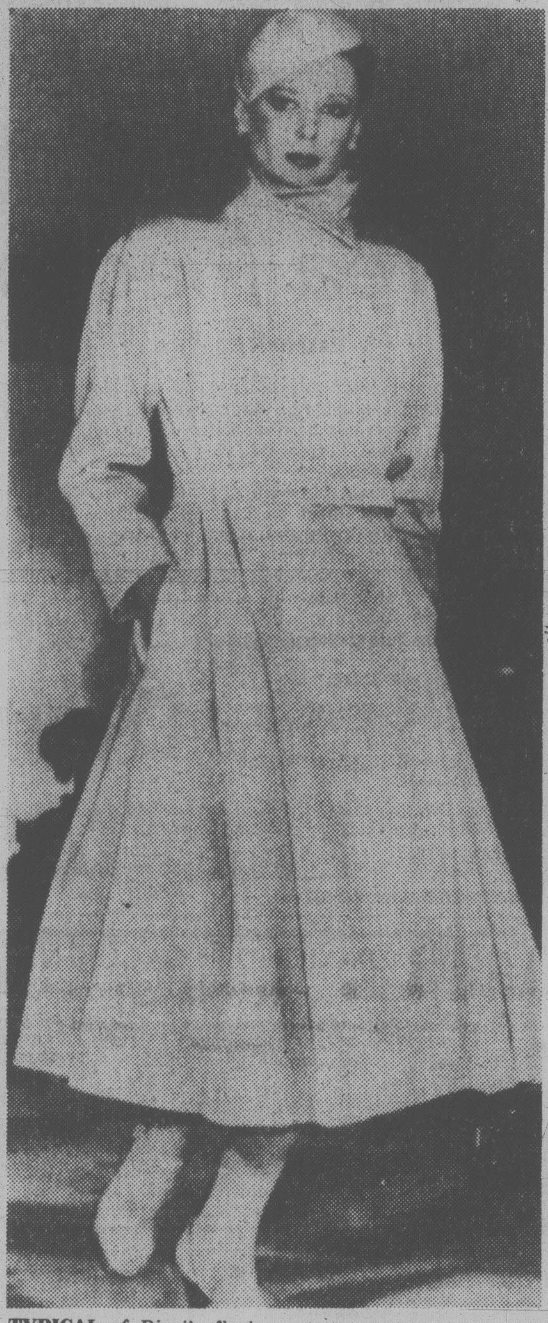
New York Times



TYPICAL of Ricci's flashback to the pleated '40s. The best styles were coats in colors such as pale pink, raspberry or red.

SUPERMAN PIERRE LIKES THAT SPACED-OUT LOOK

By Peggy Massin

PARIS (Reuter) — Superman-style padded shoulders will be in vogue and sporty styles will invade the boardroom if Pierre Cardin and other designers have their way in 1979.

Cardin, who introduced the Superman look today, has put giant crescents curving several centimetres above the shoulder on everything from active sportswear to three-piece business suits and evening wear.

Cardin sells 10 times as many men's designs as women's, with the United States, West Germany and Japan the leading markets for his latest outer space creations.

Dozens of other men's wear designers among the 700 exhibitors at the Paris fashions endorsed sporty styles for the office.

Shoulder yokes, storm flaps and elbow patches could be no more out of place behind an executive's desk than on a golf course, with padded shoulders covered by all manner of awnings, epaulettes, pleats and bandings.

With the exception of a few ultra-classic British exhibitors, the vast majority of designers used fantasy.

Guy Laroche, another top couturier who designs men's wear, broke with every vestige of the classic approach. His three-piece town suits used bright-colored Donegal tweeds or two-toned weaves.

Vests were sheared off straight rather than in traditional points, beneath jackets with narrow lapels in a contrasting color and fabric.

Suit jackets were cut much shorter and hips are going to be much more in evidence. The wide shoulders were counter-balanced by narrow lapels slanting down to a single button.

Sheer woolen and flannel shirts in hazy stripes and small checks, that would once have been worn only in the country, appeared with narrow neckties, on small button-down collars.

SUBTLE DESIGN on the mantel and right side of the fireplace, not immediately apparent, is created by adding two courses of bricks to the the surface so that they project into the room.

Area Placement the Key

By PAULINE GRAVES

When remodelling an existing house or building a new one, many decisions must be made regarding placement of areas. True, a house to be remodelled has definite restrictions, but a new house offers free choice, limited by budget, site and building codes.

Each room must be evaluated separately, and window and door placement worked out carefully to offer greatest flexibility for furniture arrangement.

A case in point is the room shown here, the interiors by Pat Yeiser. Fireplace location was a key decision. Placing it in a fairly narrow inside wall meant freeing the two long side walls for furniture, and the end wall for doors and windows, maximum exterior exposure.

As you can see, the opening between the two rooms is at the right, leaving the centre wall area for the fireplace where it becomes the room's focal point.

The fireplace design now is very important. Instead of the wall's face continuing straight across, it is given dimension by a recess on the left, handy or log storage, the ends creating a nice pattern.

A ledge from fireplace to wall boxes in the storage area and provides a surface for plants. The mantel, one-foot deep, also displays a plant and these soften the brick.

The recess is three-feet high and 31 inches wide, and the four-foot, three-inch depth from the front of the hearth to the back of the recess is more than adequate for logs used in the four-foot wide fireplace.

What Makes Car Backfire?

DEAR MIKE: What makes a car backfire? My 1977 Pacer 6 backfires whenever I let off the gas pedal. It's usually just one loud pop, but sometimes it makes with a lot of little pops. It's really annoying, and I suspect it's hard on the muffler and catalytic converter as well. — POPPER

DEAR POPPER: The most common cause of backfiring is a maladjusted carburetor. It's usually set too lean. Other reasons include a stuck gulp valve in the smog system or a clogged PCV.

DEAR MIKE: My 1974 Cougar's engine needs an overhaul in the worst way. But I don't want to have the original 400-cubic-inch, 4-barrel V-8 rebuilt. It burns too much gas. Rather, I wonder whether I can install a smaller V-8. I've been thinking about a late-model 302 or 351. Do these engines interchange with the 400 V-8? — THIRSTY COUGAR

DEAR THIRSTY: Any FoMoCo 351 Cleveland V-8 will interchange with your 400, but the 302 and the 351 Windsor engines have slightly lower, shorter blocks. By the way, the names Windsor and Cleveland refer to the plants in which these 351-cubic-inch engines are built.

DEAR MIKE: I recently bought a used 1978 Datsun B-210 with 9,200 miles on it. The previous owner told me he began using synthetic oil in this car right after the 5000-mile break-in period. Do I have to continue using synthetic oil or can I switch to regular oil without harming the engine? — GOING NATURAL

DEAR GOING: You can switch without any ill effects.

DEAR MIKE: My '68 Pontiac makes a tinny, ringing sound — like a telephone — when I push down hard on the accelerator. It began doing this after I took the car to the gas station for a carburetor adjustment and new radiator hoses. I've returnd to the station, but the mechanic can't locate the problem. Any thoughts? — TINGING

DEAR TINGING: Most likely it's the fan blades hitting the radiator or a hose when you accelerate. The mechanic might not have tightened the radiator supports — if he loosened them to get at the hoses. The tinging might also indicate weak engine mounts, because whenever a car accelerates, the engine tries to rotate within the frame. If it lifts far enough, the fan can touch things it shouldn't.

Did His 'Doing' Before 62

Leslie Holbrook

"I have had a bellyful of the whining of 65-year-olds who are coming apart because they had to go on pension," writes Jerry Hartford, Don Mills, Ont.

"A letter in your column talks about 'sudden enforced period of activity'. What's sudden about reaching 65? Are these people totally incapable of projecting ahead to determine what it will be like in retirement and act accordingly?

"I retired at 62 and experienced no shock. I have yet to find anything different from what I figured it would be.

"If mandatory retirement was 75, there would still be people tripping over it in great surprise. They worry about what they will 'do' after they retire. Well I, for one, am going to 'do' nothing. I did all my doing while I was working.

"The trouble with too many people is that they have been nothing all their lives but projections of their jobs; take away their toys and all they can think of is to cry.

"One thing I know I did by retiring was to open a job for a younger person. With unemployment at disgracefully high levels why can't these whimperers take their pension and get out of the way for someone younger?

"Who says you have to 'sit around on your fanny waiting for the undertaker' (to quote from another of your letters)? Can't they read, go to the theatre, attend concerts and lectures, observe nature, discuss politics and other subjects, etc. In short, can't they think? Do they always have to be 'doing'? Is their job their be-all and end- all?"

Now there is a switch from all our talk of second — and third — careers. It demonstrates once again that you cannot lump all us seniors together. We have different goals, different appetites, different faiths and philosophies — likely to grow even more dissimilar as we get older.

Take a hundred of us and you will find much more diversification and nonconformity than among a like sampling of the jean-clad, look-alike younger generation.

I have an entertaining correspondent in Oshawa (Mrs. M. I. S. N.) who sends along a new chuckle for you. She writes:

"Further to the objections by some to the words "old age" in the term "Old Age Pension," they might rename it Social Insurance Pension. We already hve the controversial Social Insurance Number. Then we would have SIP and SIN and some seniors might be eager to do both!

"Some of your columns are so good they should be reproduced poster-size and prominently displayed where people gather — doctors' offices, seniors' clubs, etc." Thanks.

When filing your 1978 income tax return, you are required, for the first time, to include an information slip called T4A (OAS) which will show the amount of Old Age Security pension.

Your 1978 Tax Guide booklet says these slips would accompany your January cheques. They didn't. Look for them with February cheques. This still gives you plenty of time to meet the April 30 tax deadline.

Send comments and questions (stamped, addressed envelope for reply) to Victoria Times, c/o Box 1506, Guelph, Ont., N1H 6N9.

Ulcers Give Rise To Many Myths

True or false?:

— The typical ulcer patient is an ambitious executive with many responsibilities and little time to relax.

— Milk is the ideal food for ulcer patients.

— To prevent a recurrence, ulcer patients must stick to a bland diet and stay away from spicy and fatty foods, citrus juices and alcohol.

— Ulcers can lead to stomach cancer.

Various studies in recent years indicate that all the above are false. There are perhaps more myths about ulcers than about any other common chronic disease.

Much of the misinformation is because the experts themselves are unsure of how or why ulcers occur and how best to treat them.

About one in 10 people will get an ulcer sometime in his or her life. While some reports suggest that ulcers are becoming less common among North Americans, others indicate the opposite.

One trend is certain, however: Ulcers today are far more common among women than they used to be. While in decades past, only one in 20 ulcer patients was female, today nearly one in two is.

The reason for this shift can only be guessed at. One possibility is the rising use by women of cigarettes and alcohol, which irritate the lining of the gastrointestinal tract. So far, there is no scientific evidence to suggest that the emotional and occupational stresses of women's liberation are factors.

The experts also know that ulcers more commonly affect children than most people realize. Many a child's chronic stomach ache, so readily dismissed by parents and physicians alike as merely an excuse to avoid school, may actually be the symptom of an ulcer.

Peptic ulcer, as this disease is properly called, is an open sore that results from the eating away of a spot in the lining of the stomach or small intestine by the stomach's highly acid digestive juices. The stomach normally secretes hydrochloric acid and pepsinogen, which is converted to the enzyme pepsin that digests protein.

The acid secretions are controlled by the vagus nerve, which connects the stomach to the brain and which stimulates the release of a hormone, gastrin, that in turn triggers the acid secretions.

Most ulcers occur in the duodenum, the part of the small intestine closest to the stomach; these are called duodenal ulcers. Gastric ulcers, only one-tenth as common, occur in the stomach.

They seem to have different causes. Duodenal ulcers are associated with an excessive production of stomach acid; gastric ulcers are usually associated with normal amounts of acid but may result from an inherent weakness in the stomach wall.

Factors known to increase the flow of stomach acid, possibly causing an ulcer, include alcohol, coffee, aspirin and emotional stress. Yet, for unknown reasons, many people who chronically produce large amounts of acid or take six aspirins a day for years never get an ulcer.

Heredity definitely plays a role and among those with Type O blood.

But the influence of environmental stress is not as simple as is generally believed.

Seemingly calm, relaxed people are as prone to ulcers as the hard-driving, high-pressure kind.

Ulcers most often occur for the first time between the ages of 25 and 40, but they have been dianosed as early as fetal life and as late as the tenth decade. The peak age for ulcers in children is 7 to 9.

The usual symptom of an active ulcer is pain, variously described as a gnawing or burning or hungry sensation, usually in the area just above the navel.

It is important to get an ulcer condition diagnosed and treated by a physician. Ulcers can lead to serious, even fatal, complications.

With treatment, most ulcers heal in two to six weeks.

Most doctors now advise avoiding only those foods that cause distress. Ulcer patients are usually told to avoid coffee (both regular and decaffeinated have recently been shown to stimulate stomach acid), tea, cola and cocoa, and to drink alcoholic beverages only with food and in moderation, if at all.

Treatment is also likely to include antacids taken hourly at first and gradually tapering off.

But do not dose yourself with "bicarb" (sodium bicarbonate or baking soda) as this can lead to kidney damage.

After surgery, 90 to 95 per cent of ulcers do not recur; but because the operation can cause chronic complications, it is best avoided as long as possible.

Political Advise

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta Status of Women has announced it will hold free training schools in Calgary and Edmonton within the next few weeks to advise women on political issues.

dear abby

DEAR ABBY: A woman wrote to say that her husband, a much-admired, successful merchant, pockets part of his income daily so he won't have to pay income tax on it. She asked if it was a serious offence, and what would happen to him of he were caught.

You rightfully told her that it was indeed a serious offence, and he could be fined or jailed or both. But you didn't go far enough. You should have told her that if she signs a joint federal income tax return with her husband, she is equally guilty of fraud, and therefore is subject to the same penalty.

— W. H. S.

DEAR ABBY: MISERABLE was miserable with good reason. He had struck a 12-year-old boy on a bicycle and wrote to express his anguish as he waited six hours for the lad to come out of surgery.

He said: "I wasn't going very fast, but it was night and the poor kid was wearing dark clothes and there wasn't a light anywhere on his bike. I didn't even see him until I hit him. I was told that his chances for survival were slim. You can't help me — or the boy — but if you print this, maybe parents will see it and make sure their kids have the proper lights on their bikes so accidents like this can be avoided."

Abby, you are to be commended for printing that letter, but I submit this as a follow up:

"Dear Miserable:
Since your letter appeared in my column last October, hundreds more pedestrians and bicyclists have been struck and killed or injured by motorists — mostly at night because the drivers couldn't see them in time to stop.

This is senseless and needless because there are many reflective materials on the market today to make people more visible at night.

Sew-on trim for clothing, or entire garments made of fabric that glows in the dark are available at many retail stores. If you can't find them where you shop, ask for them. Insistent consumer demand can help make this life-saving feature easily available to all who need it."

— J. K. G.

DEAR J. K. G.: Thanks for an illuminating letter.

DEAR ABBY: I went shopping for a dress but couldn't find anything I wanted to buy.

I told my friend about it, and she said, "Oh, when you get our age, nobody looks at you or cares how you look anyway."

Abby, is that the way most people feel about us old folks? We are both in our 70s, but I always notice how people are dressed regardless of how old they are.

Maybe I'm just an old fool to feel as I do, and should quit caring how I look. I'd like your opinion.

— GRACE

DEAR GRACE: Your friend can speak only for herself. She certainly doesn't speak for any of the older folks I know.

Don't ever stop caring how you look, dear. Pride in one's appearance is the hallmark of self-respect.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a guy who seldom brushes his teeth and hates to shower?

— VAL

DEAR VAL: Nothing.

U.S. COAST GUARD helicopter floats upside down 280 kilometres southeast of Cape Cod after crashing into heavy seas Sunday while attempting to pick up an injured man from a Japanese fishing vessel. Three coast guard members were killed, another is still missing. The injured Japanese was rescued.

Speck of Independence?

LONDON (AP) — Residents of Ocean Island, a five-square-kilometre speck in the South Pacific, say they have launched a guerrilla war for independence from Britain, ruler of their phosphate-rich homeland.

The islanders, known as Banabans, fought their first battle last Thursday, attacking a British-run phosphate mine with firebombs, one day after authorities refused their demands to halt mining operations.

The British mine manager was injured in the attack and eight Banabans were arrested, including two leaders of the island's independence movement.

Islanders, here to lobby British lawmakers for independence, warned that sabotage will continue until the British grant their wish.

"The whole Banaban race is fully behind the Council of Leaders and jailing will not discourage us," council chairman Rev. Tobias Tawaka told reporters

Ocean Island was annexed by Britain in 1900 and made a part of its Gilbert Islands colony. The Gilberts are scheduled to become independent in July, but the Banabans want separate home-rule for their island.

They say the island, once known as Banaba, can support itself on its phosphate exports of $5 million a year. Copra, the dried meat of the coconut, is the only export of the other 32 islands.

Britain moved most of the 3,100 Banabans from their homes to Fiji in 1945 because of the mining operations. The islanders have waged a long fight in the British courts for the right to return.

Festival Threat Remains

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Carnival was glum and chill Sunday with no festive crowds, the gaudy parades cancelled and no sign of a break in a police strike that threatens to wreck Mardi Gras.

Mayor Ernest Morial stepped out of historic St. Louis Cathedral in the French Quarter after morning mass and offered a 24-hour period of amnesty to strikers.

"Beginning now, there is a period of amnesty from disciplinary action . . . during which any striking policeman may return to the New Orleans police department without fear of disciplinary action," he said. "The period begins immediately and will end at noon tomorrow."

He did not say what action might be taken against those who stay out. Earlier, he said mass firings were under consideration.

A judge's back-to-work order has been ignored by the Teamsters-affiliated Police Association of Louisiana.

The union claims 1,200 of the 1,514 commissioned officers as members. A substitute force of 600 from the national guard and 200 state police took over when the strike started Friday night.

Carnival is the party period before Mardi Gras, a hard-drinking celebration which has become a $50-million a year industry in this tourist-conscious city. It comes up Feb. 27.

"The union has taken Mardi Gras hostage," said city council member Brod Bagert.

Melee In Seattle

SEATTLE (AP) — Twenty-seven policemen were injured by drunken, bottle-throwing celebrators on the weekend during Seattle's Fat Tuesday festival, officials said.

More than 40 people were arrested and 35 citations were issued in the Saturday night melee, police said.

They said the trouble began about midnight Saturday night when patrons became upset as the music stopped and bars began closing.

Fusillades of bottles were "launched at police and aid personnel who were responding to assist injured people," an official said.

Fat Tuesday is Seattle's version of the Mardi Gras festival in New Orleans. It began last Wednesday and continued through Sunday. There were no reports of trouble Sunday.

'NOT TONIGHT, BRA SAYS RED'

LONDON (UPI) — A Scottish scientist has come up with a birth control device — an electronic bra that flashes a red or green light to indicate when it is safe to have sex with the woman wearing it.

London's Daily Express newspaper reported today that Dr. Hugh Simpson has developed a bra containing a mini-computer that keeps track of a woman's ovulation and indicates with flashing lights her degree of fertility.

The bra is being tested at the Tenovus Cancer Research Center and a spokesman for the institute, John Burke, feels the idea could be of massive, worldwide importance.

"It's easy to joke about fitting flashing red and green lights to light up somebody's bra," Burke said. "But if this idea comes off, I reckon the pope will make me a Knight of St. Gregory!"

N-Power Controls Defeated

BERN (Reuter) — Switzerland's nuclear-energy industry appears headed for more-stringent government supervision after an effective halt to its expansion plans was narrowly defeated in a referendum.

A referendum with an above-average turnout of almost half the country's 3.8 million electors showed citizens nearly equally divided over stricter controls on existing and planned nuclear power stations and other atomic installations.

A proposal that would have specified safety and environmental conditions for granting 25-year operating concessions and subjected four existing plants to retroactive parliamentary approval was defeated by only 45,348 votes.

Voting was 919,923 in favor and 965,271 against in the weekend poll. Because it would have amended the constitution, the proposal also needed to win support from a majority of Switzerland's 23 semi-autonomous cantons (states), but they voted 14 to nine against.

The environmentalist lobby, which had forced the vote, and their opponents in government, parliament and industry all claimed the result of the over-all individual vote as success for their respective causes.

North-South Irish Link Eyed

Times News Services

DUBLIN — Ireland's main opposition party has proposed closer political links with Northern Ireland as a way of easing tensions that have divided the two communities.

A policy document published today by the party, Fine Gael, stessed the economic and other benefits that might flow from a closer political alliance, including a police force operating throughout Ireland under a single authority.

Drawn up by a study group inspired by Garret Fitzgerald, leader of the Fine Gael party and a former Irish foreign affairs minister, the 44-page document rejects the alternative of an independent sovereign Northern Ireland as unrealistic, suggesting instead a federal north-south solution.

Fitzgerald said this might not change the political situation in Northern Ireland overnight, but it might relieve the fears of many Roman Catholics in the north.

"We have tried to set out arguments to show the people of the north they could be better off working with us rather than Britain," Fitzgerald said.

The document suggests setting up a confederal administration comprising members from both governments to deal with economic matters, financial affairs and relations with the European Economic Community (EEC). Major posts would alternate annually between northern and southern representatives.

Saying that the current political deadlock arises partly from Protestant fears about predominantly Catholic Ireland's intentions toward Northern Ireland, observers said such fears would become irrelevant with a closer political relationship.

Fitzgerald told reporters one immediate advantage would be that Northern Ireland would have a greater voice as an equal partner in a confederation, rather than as a tiny part of the United Kingdom.

Meanwhile, postal and telephone services in the Irish republic were cut today as 13,000 postal workers began a one-week strike in support of a proposal for a 37-per-cent pay raise.

The strike stopped postal services, operator-assisted telephone calls and social-welfare payments normally made at post offices.

Cousteau's Ship Looted

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — About 300 Maldive islanders armed with handguns and axes, boarded a U.S.-owned oceanographic survey ship in the Indian Ocean, kidnapped an American crewman and looted the vessel before releasing it, amateur radio operators reported today.

The radio operators said the Panamanian-registered Alysse Maru was reported under way today from the Maldives toward a U.S. Naval facility on the Indian Ocean island of Diego Garcia, about 1,200 kilometres to the south.

In Washington, Navy spokesman Lt. Cmdr. Don Lewis said a Navy P-3 reconnaissance plane was escorting the Alysse Maru. He said the vessel was believed under contract to French oceanographer Jacques Cousteau. Radio reports from the ship described it as a sister-ship to Cousteau's Calypso.

The broadcasts on amateur radio frequencies said seven American crewmen were aboard the converted U.S. Navy minesweeper, but the captain and two others were left behind in the Maldives. The 13-year-old son of the ship's radio officer suffered a blow to the head during the takeover.

The report said one of the crewmen, medical officer Thomas Wiemken was seized by the islanders after they took control of the ship Saturday and exchanged gunfire with the crew. Capt. Kenneth Leonard and Chief Engineer Craig Williams left the ship to search for Wiemken, the report said. None of the other crewmen was identified.

Amateur radio operators, who picked up the ship's distress calls, said Leonard carried a walkie-talkie and made his last communication with the ship about midday Sunday. They quoted the crew as saying the transmission apparently was made under duress after Leonard and Williams became separated.

500 Buried In Chad

N'DJAMENA, Chad (Reuter) — French army bulldozers dug mass graves in Chad's capital Sunday for an estimated 500 people who died in fighting between rival government factions in this central African country last week.

Bloated bodies were left along the streets of the sprawling African quarter of the capital until Sunday, although a truce had been announced Thursday.

Troops handling the bodies were from the 1,000-member French garrison based in N'djamena. The French troops had remained neutral in the fighting between the national army of President Felix Malloum and the Moslem rebel forces of Prime Minister Hissene Habre.

Although diplomatic sources said they were sceptical about the chances of a negotiated settlement, the ceasefire appeared to be holding Sunday for the third consecutive day.

President Malloum was back at his palace after several days at a command post at N'djamena airport and told reporters he regretted France's hands-off attitude toward the dispute.

He said he would go along if necessary with French suggestions for a federated republic which would give more autonomy to the Moslem north of the country.

Quake Rocks Chile Capital

SANTIAGO (UPI) — An earthquake rocked the Chilean capital of Santiago today but no injuries or damage were reported, police said.

The Seismological Institute of the University of Chile said the tremor, recorded at 2:30 a.m. PST, registered 3.0 on the Richter scale. Its epicentre was located 40 miles east of Santiago in the Andes.

Sears Canada's largest floor covering retailer
Cushion Vinyl Sale
Thinking about a new vinyl covering for your rec room, kitchen, bathroom, basement, hall, boat or trailer? Let Sears experts do it for you.
1 Install anywhere
These practical, durable floor coverings make sense anywhere around the home. All qualities may safely be installed on, above or below grade — even directly on concrete
2 First quality only
Prices shown are all for first quality flooring, installed in your home, and include cement. There may be small extra charges for additional services and accessories. (some floors might need a new plywood sub-floor — our specialist will provide a separate quotation for this)
3 Comfort underfoot
Cushioned vinyl floors soak up sound and muffle the noise of daily clatter and chatter. Walk on it barefooted — there's no chill! That's because the inner layer of foam insulates. The floor actually 'gives' on impact from normal household traffic — bounces right back again!
4 Easy to care for
Six of the eight styles shown here are identified as 'No Wax' flooring. The two remaining need only minimal waxing care. Either way, Sears Cushion Vinyl qualities are very easy to live with!
5 Fully guaranteed

Court Gives Quebec Okay To Appeal Charter Ruling

By PAUL GESSELL

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada granted the Quebec government permission today to appeal Quebec court rulings that portions of the province's language law are unconstitutional.

Justice Louis-Philippe Pigeon said the case will be given top priority and will be heard during the court's next session, which begins in April.

Quebec felt forced to approach the Supreme Court — an institution the Parti Quebecois views with suspicion — after the Quebec Court of Appeals ruled last November the Quebec national assembly exceeded its powers by making French the only official language of provincial courts and the legislature. The ruling upheld an earlier one by the more junior Quebec Superior Court.

These rulings were based on Section 133 of the British North America Act, Canada's constitution, which gives English and French equal status in Quebec's judicial and legislative proceedings. The Quebec government argued the century-old act gave the province powers to pass laws superseding Section 133.

Meanwhile, other provisions of the language law limiting the enrolment of students in English schools and restricting the use of English in the business world are being challenged in separate cases before Quebec courts.

The language law, popularly known as Bill 101, is the flagship of the Parti Quebecois drive to see Quebec become a politically independent French-speaking state.

The law runs counter to Prime Minister Trudeau's view of Canada as a bilingual, federalist nation. Trudeau refused to initiate constitutional challenges against the law, or to invoke the federal power of disallowance, but is providing financial assistance to some groups opposing the legislation.

The Parti Quebecois could receive valuable ammunition for its referendum campaign if the Supreme Court rules the legislation is unconstitutional. The ruling would become another example, in the minds of pro-independence forces, of a Canadian institution inhibiting Quebec's natural evolution.

A ruling in favor of Quebec could be embarrassing to federalist forces which have opposed the law so vehemently.

Clark Hazy on French Rights Outside Que.

MONTREAL (CP) — Conservative leader Joe Clark ventured onto hostile turf in an effort to boost Tory fortunes in Quebec on the weekend, but it was uncertain how much support he won with a speech that went heavy on the rights of English Quebecers while remaining hazy about French rights in the rest of Canada.

Clark's visit to Montreal, leading an army of 50 Conservative MPs and five Conservative provincial premiers, capped a busy weekend of political activity in the province.

In Quebec City, Premier Rene Levesque and federal Justice Minister Marc Lalonde traded insults, using journalists as intermediaries.

Clark took the limelight Sunday, telling a $125-a-plate dinner for party supporters: "It is not a time to close the door on the constitutional rights of English in Quebec, nor to close the door on the progress that has been made by the French-speaking minorities in other provinces."

But when he got down to specifics, Clark said only that he favors retention of Section 133 of the British North America Act, which guarantees that either English or French can be used in Parliament and the Quebec national assembly, as well as in federal and Quebec courts.

The trouble is that the section guarantees English rights in Quebec and French rights in Ottawa, but it doesn't say anything about French rights elsewhere.

The Tory leader's stand is nevertheless a repudiation of the Task Force on Canadian Unity, which recommended leaving minority-language rights solely up to the provinces.

Clark would not say exactly how he would guarantee the rights of French-speaking minorities outside Quebec. As he sat down to eat after after his speech, the Tory leader told a reporter that several provinces "are prepared to move on language rights," and he thought it appropriate for the federal government to "help the provinces move towards those rights."

In Quebec City, meanwhile, Justice Minister Lalonde continued his war of words with Premier Levesque, saying Saturday it is "despicable" that Levesque considers Quebec members of the federal government strangers in their own land.

Levesque repeated on Sunday that Lalonde was an example of "the carreerists that we send to Ottawa. They are there to keep the aspirations of Quebec down."

During the weekend PQ meeting, the premier warned his government will not participate in any more constitutional conferences, at least until after the federal election in the spring.

CITY WATCHDOG REPORT 96
Congratulations go to Alderman Peter Bunn who will recommend that Oak Bay Council send a letter to Education and Finance Ministers, listing specific examples of Greater Victoria School Board's fiscal irresponsibility. Your City's Watchdog thinks that the Victoria School Board chairperson made an unfair statement saying, "The budget during the years Bunn was chairman increased 20 per cent." Your City's Watchdog remembers when Peter Bunn was chairman during 1967 and 1968. New large school buildings had to be built and the schools enrolment was increasing at the rate of 1,000 pupils each year. Then why increase the teacher force when the student population is dropping by 1,000 a year and therefore the school budget should be decreasing by 20 per cent instead of being increased by 6.8 per cent. There must be something wrong with those members of the school board that vote to increase school taxes. Please continue phoning 383-6259 or write to Your City's Watchdog, C. Joe Richards, PO Box 154, Victoria, for information regarding City Matters. Postscript: Your City's Watchdog wishes to put some of the blame on those members of Victoria's City Council that voted to have Biennial Civic Elections which helped change the membership of the school board. It appears that many city residents did not vote in 1978 because taxpayers thought there was no voting or did not think it was important to vote for school trustees. Remember, city taxpayers, when you get your tax bills that the Greater Victoria School Board's budget at $49.9 million is greater than the City of Victoria's budget for 1979. P.P.S. Glyn Williams, school trustee, predicted "financial disaster" for the district unless it took a tougher stand against expenditures.

On the main floor there is a lovely living-room with elegant fireplace, separate dining room, small den, efficient kitchen with breakfast area and a very large, master bedroom (which could easily be converted to two bedrooms) with 4-pce. bathroom ensuite plus another full bathroom off the hall. All has new wall-to-wall, quality carpeting over oak floors. Downstairs is fully developed with a large recreation room with fireplace, another bedroom and bathroom, laundry room and workshop. The garden with its trees and flowering shrubs is a perfect setting for the house — the beach garden offering complete seclusion and a super vegetable patch. DON'T MISS THIS. IT'S the perfect house for those "gearing down" who want less rooms but who still want space and grace. Hard to find! See you Sat. or Sun. or by appointment at your convenience. 308 CARDS OF THANKS

Mrs. Elwood Clum and Family would like to thank the Doctors, Nurses and staff of Royal 4 Jubilee Hospital for their many kindnesses and tender care of my Husband during his illness. Thanks to the Friends and Relatives for the comfort and love experessed in so many ways, flowers, cards and donations to the Heart Fund, and by sharing our sorrow with us, also to the kind Ladies who prepared a delicious lunch. For all these kindnesses we thank you one and all. The comforting words spoken by the kind Gentlemen at the Service will always be remembered by the Family of our Dearly Beloved Husband, Father and Grandfather. The Family.

WE WISH TO THANK ALL those who sent cards and donations to the Cancer Fund during the recent loss of my son Allan Mitchell. Special thanks to Dr. J.P. White, Dr. Gouws and Dr. Gerhard Friesen and nurses of the Jubilee Hospital. Also Rev. Lloyd Pierce.
Mrs. Margaret Mitchell and son Stuart.

309 IN MEMORIAM

BAKER — In ever loving memory of my beloved husband Chris, who passed away Feb. 19, 1972.

The rolling stream of life rolls on.
But still the vacant chair.
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile.
Of him who once sat there.
—Always remembered by his loving wife, Lill.

CAMPLING — In loving memory of my dear wife Mabel (May) who passed away Feb. 19, 1978.

My lips cannot tell how I miss her,
My heart cannot tell what to say,
God alone knows how I miss her,
In a home that is lonesome today.
-Ever loved and sadly missed by her husband Ray.

BECKERLEY - In loving memory of my husband James, who passed away February 19th, 1978.

The Love a heart holds dear
Fond memories linger everyday
Rememberance keeps him Dear
Always remembered and Sadly missed by his Wife Eileen and Children.

CAMPLING:

One year has passed since that sad day,
When one I loved was called away,
God took her home, it was His will,
Within my heart, she liveth still.
Never forgotten dear May — Eleanor Neill.

THEY SHALL GROW NOT OLD AS WE WHO ARE LEFT GROW OLD, AGE SHALL NOT WEARY THEM, NOR THE YEARS CONDEMN, AT THE GOING DOWN OF THE SUN, AND IN THE MORNING, WE WILL REMEMBER THEM.
WITH GRATITUTE, SANDS

HAYHURST— In loving memory of my dear husband Stephen, who died Feb. 19, 1974.

Tender and Funny Love Story

A Movie Review of Same Time, Next Year

By Lorraine Locherty

Adapting an intimate stage play to film is difficult, particularly when most of the action takes place in one room between two people. It's hard to create on the vastness of the movie screen a special rapport between actors and the audience. The creators of the movie version of the broadway comedy Same Time, Next Year showed good judgment selecting Alan Alda and Ellen Burstyn for the title roles. If anybody can carry it off, Alda (of television's MASH fame) and Burstyn (The Exorcist) can.

And they do, for the most part. They give it their best shot, and while the movie drags occasionally, on the whole it is a delightful, touching film.

It is based on a hit play (almost four years so far on Broadway and the most commercially successful comedy in the history of American theatre) written by Bernard Slade that chronicles the 26-year relationship of two lovers happily married — to other people — who meet at the same northern California coast resort for one weekend every year.

Slade, who wrote the screenplay, and director Robert Mulligan have done a good job sustaining most of the play's magic, even though some of the material, although topical at the time it was written, is now dated.

The six sequences all take place in the same cabin and are separated by a tender love theme composed by Marvin Hamlisch and sung by Johnny Mathis and Jane Olivor. Between each scene a series of famous photographs reminds the audience of world events taking place at the time.

Unfortunately Mulligan fails to completely avoid the monotony of filming an entire movie in one confined space. Occasionally the pace lags and claustrophobia closes in, in spite of the efforts of Alda and Burstyn. But Mulligan wisely chooses to film the action out of the cabin at regular intervals and that helps.

Alda is George, a chartered accountant, and Burstyn, (recreating her Tony award-winning role), is Doris, a dizzy young housewife with a touch of Judy Holliday's vulnerable naivete. He lives in New Jersey, she comes from Oakland. They meet for the first time in 1951. His wife thinks he's out on the West Coast doing a client's books; her husband believes she's in a religious retreat.

The audience gets to peek in on their meetings at five-year intervals and watch their metamorphosis.

Sweet dumbell Doris is a worldly femme fatale by 1956. In the next encounter she is pregnant and has completed high school. The fourth time we see them she has enrolled in Berkeley and become a campus radical (the hokiest and least successful sequence). In 1971 she has joined the women's liberation movement and become a hard-nosed businesswoman, almost losing her husband in the process. But by 1977 she has evolved into a kind, matronly middle-aged lady not unlike the Doris of 1951.

George goes through some traumatic changes of his own, turning gradually more successful and more establishment with each grey hair, until by 1966 he is a right-winger adamantly opposed to long-haired hippies and draft-dodgers. By 1971 he has moved to California, adopted a laid-back lifestyle, renounced his $100,000-a-year job and gone into analysis.

Music Drowns Out Chorus

By AUDREY JOHNSON
Times Staff

It is difficult to assess a performance that you have only half heard — except to say just that. And to add that what you did hear was intriguing, in fact, inviting, and what a pity it was not more available to the ears and thence to the understanding.

This was the case with what appears to be an attractive and handsomely crafted work by Canadian composer Pierre Mercure which brings the Amity Singers together with Victoria Symphony for the current pair of concerts at University Centre.

Cantate pour une Joie is written for chorus, orchestra and solo soprano. The orchestral writing is interesting and rich in texture and color, expanding the orchestra to include piano, harp, a fifth horn, and English horn among other instruments.

Conducting the work, with the 28-voice Amity chorus in the guest spot, is Brian Law of Ottawa, last of the candidates for the Victoria Symphony podium.

He probably cannot be faulted entirely for the failure, Sunday, in bringing the piece to the listeners with full effectiveness. It is possible that a piece of this comparatively complex structure needs longer rehearsal time to try out different groupings and volume levels.

It has been demonstrated that the University Centre auditorium can provide brilliant results for a combination of chorus and orchestra when the chorus is a large one, able to compete at a tonal level with the orchestra.

In this case the problem of a small chamber choir placed behind and above the orchestra, was not resolved. Much of the time — certainly as far as the balcony audience was concerned — what the chorus was doing became a lip-reading exercise.

Probably Amity was quite up to its usual fine standard but submerged in orchestral volume, it was impossible to judge. Nearly the same thing can be said for the soprano soloist, Karen Smith.

This is a young artist with a lovely vocal quality, musically sensitive and with considerable technical assurance, but she also was heard only intermittently through the seven-part Cantate.

Hopefully Law will find a way to adjust the balance of his forces in this well-worth-hearing work by tonight's concert time.

Law, who is conductor of several Ottawa ensembles and especially noted for his choral work, chose the superb Brahms Variations on a Theme by Haydn as a program opener, and followed the intermission with the darkly melodic, turgid and totally familiar Tchaikovsky Fifth Symphony.

The Brahms-Haydn, also familiar to most symphony-goers, had breadth and full warm tone in its opening statement of the chorale-like theme, but as the nine variations proceeded there was at times an imbalance among the various sections; an uncalled-for dominance for example, at one point, of wind tone.

One missed a sensitivity in Law's treatment of individual variations. Expected contrasts were not achieved and the over-all performance, in spite of some good playing from most sections of the orchestra, took on a rather mechanical nature.

Of the Tchaikovsky, again there were episodes that were well done; pleasing patches of playing for instance, by the strings and some fine wind passages. At times Law's phrasing and building of a climax suggested a workmanlike understanding but in terms of musical architecture the over-all interpretation was a series of units that did not come together to form a whole structure.

Theatre people have a word for it: it was a performance that didn't "jell" despite good possibilities.

It's Planting Time For Trees, Shrubs

GARDENING
hilda beastall

Some time during the next 10 days of February should bring the opportunity to plant several kinds of trees and shrubs which are bought in burlapped balls or in containers.

While fall planting is advised as being preferred here for several reasons, much of this stock is not available at local nurseries until February or March.

The first summer after planting is the critical time for evergreens particularly, for they are never truly dormant since they are always fully clothed with foilage. Drought and heat, even dry winds in May or June frequently lead to complete loss of newly planted trees and shrubs. These conditions also affect newly leafing-out deciduous plants.

These losses can be avoided by the home gardener if a few important steps are followed.

First, before taking the plant from its burlap covering or from its container let it stand in a pail of water oudoors while you prepare the planting hole.

The soil in a can may be tight and even dry inside the rootball, and in sacking the roots may have already taken all moisture from the soil. A half hour is not too long for soaking, and may be long enough to dig the hole twice the depth and twice the width of the rootball.

Break up the soil at the bottom for the hole to ensure drainage; then add rotted compost mixed with some of the soil from the hole. Add water in the hole to soak into the subsoil — it will become available later if the season should prove dry.

Now try the plant for size; the top of a rootball should be only a fraction below the finished soil surface.

Burlap sacking is folded back after the ties are cut, and left in the hole to prevent loss of loose soil from the root area. But a plastic wrap or rigid containers must be removed carefully. The new soil level must be at the same point as the soil mark you see on the stem of the tree or shrub.

Exceptions to this rule are found among grafted roses, but not with grafts on most other plants. Watch the previous soil line and let it be your guide.

Add more mixed compost and soil to fill in around the plant's roots, covering the folded back sacking. Fill again with water to eliminate air which comes out as bubbles. Watering also helps to press the soil into contact with the fine hair roots.

As the water drains away, fill in with the topsoil from the hole, leaving a slight saucer for final watering. Then add a top mulch of compost or coarse peatmoss, if you have it, over the root area. This conserves moisture during early dry windy periods.

In reasonably good soil with humus and a fair amount of clay, roots of newly set plants begin to take hold during the next three or four weeks, according to their kind. As soil and air temperatures rise a little, give a light feeding of a general balanced fertilizer such as 6-8-6 at the rate of one tablespoon to one gallon of water: or 15 mL to 4 L of water. Stir well; leave for a few hours; stir again and give one cupful or 250 mL to each plant at and around the base over the mulch.

These are ways to ensure successful results from trees and shrubs you are buying and planting this month.

Denied Survey Job, Woman Gets $780

A one-person board of inquiry has ruled that a Penticton company practised sex discrimination contrary to the Human Rights Code in refusing to hire a woman for a job on a survey crew.

In her decision board chairman Beverley McLachlin, a law professor at the University of B.C., ordered Richard Chapman and Associates Ltd. to pay $280 damages and $500 costs to the complainant, Jane Gawne.

The company was also ordered to refrain from such discrimination in the future.

The board of inquiry established by Labor Minister Allan Williams was told last December that Chapman interviewed Mrs. Gawne Nov. 30, 1976, and told her a chainman job was unavailable although she had several months' experience on survey crews.

The inquiry was told by investigators from the ministry of labor that Chapman concluded the interview by saying that women employees cost more because they require separate accommodation on out-of-town assignments.

They testified that he also said wives of male crew members become upset when females join men on survey crews.

The chainman position was later filled by a man.

Sweeter Deal In Lieu Of Tax

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government moved today to try to settle a long-standing dispute with hundreds of municipal governments by announcing a $25-million increase in payments in lieu of property taxes.

Finance Minister Jean Chretien told an Ottawa Board of Trade luncheon a new Municipal Grants Act, to be introduced shortly in Parliament, would take effect beginning next year.

Ottawa has been accused of short-changing local governments for years because of lump-sum payments it makes instead of paying property taxes on federally-owned buildings and land across the country.

Currently, the government pays about $148 million a year to about 2,000 municipal governments.

The City of Ottawa will benefit most from the new arrangement, receiving $6 million more by the time the law is fully implemented in 1981.

However, the federal government has decided to pay grants for the first time on defence bases in rural areas, national parks, historic sites, museums, libraries, art galleries, concert halls, reclaimed lands and water conservation projects, a press release said.

Among well-known properties to be covered are Louisbourg, N.S., the Citadel at Halifax, the Plains of Abraham at Quebec and historic sites at Dawson City in the Yukon.

Grants paid on national parks properties will include Banff and Jasper in Alberta, Point Pelee and St. Lawrence Islands in Ontario and Cape Breton Highlands in Nova Scotia.

Chretien said the new act will resolve most of the problems that have developed since the present grants a program was enacted in 1957.

Fish Plant Opening

DELTA (CP) — A frozen food plant which closed here almost a year ago is to reopen March 1, but this time the product will be fish instead of chips.

The $8-million plant opened in late 1976 to process potatoes into french fries but closed last April because of financial difficulties attributed by officials to the company's inability to compete with government-subsidized french-fry factories in eastern Canada.

But George Spetifore, president of S. Spetifore and Sons Ltd., is more optimistic about the plant's chances as a custom freezing service for the British Columbia fishing industry.

After $1 million worth of renovations, the plant has won contracts with six fish and shellfish firms to provide them with freezing and cold storage, Spetifore said. The plant will freeze, box and ship the fish.

U.S.S.R. on Alert

Times News Services

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union has given China an ultimatum — withdraw from Vietnam "before it is too late" — and has reportedly put all its forces on combat standby.

The Soviet government statement stopped short of saying what it would do if China continued its military push into Vietnam, which has a mutual protection treaty with the U.S.S.R.

But all furloughs of the Soviet armed forces were cancelled following China's invasion of Vietnam, Moscow correspondent Victor Louis reported in the London Evening News today.

Louis, a Soviet citizen, said it is understood the forces had been given the order of "combat readiness number one" although this has not been officially announced.

Adding to the suspense was the report today that United States and Soviet naval ships had stepped up activities in Southeast Asia following outbreak of fighting between China and Vietnam.

The U.S.S.R.-Vietnam treaty, signed Nov. 3, calls for "mutual consultations" if either party is menaced by outside aggression and for "appropriate effective measures" to ensure peace and security.

"The Soviet Union will honor its obligations under the treaty of friendship and cooperation between the Soviet Union and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam," the Soviet government said Sunday in an announcement.

The United States has also called on the Chinese to withdraw their forces immediately from Vietnam, adding that Vietnamese troops should likewise leave Cambodia.

And, in New York, UN Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim called Sunday for an urgent "end to all hostilities."

Meanwhile, Radio Hanoi reported Sunday that Vietnam and Cambodia have signed a treaty of peace, friendship and co-operation in Phnom Penh.

The radio gave no other details of the treaty.

In a broadcast monitored in Bangkok today, Radio Hanoi claimed that in two days of fighting Vietnamese troops killed 3,500 Chinese soldiers, destroyed 80 tanks and routed 12 Chinese battalions.

Intelligence officers said the three-day-old invasion had put Chinese forces in control of two district capitals and scores of small villages, as Peking's troops pushed six miles into Vietnam across the 450-mile frontier.

Chinese Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping said today his country will not prolong or expand the Sino-Vietnamese war and reiterated that China has no territorial ambition, a Japanese news report from Peking said.

Sources said over-all military activity on the borders were relatively light today with heavy fighting reported in certain areas. They said the initial Chinese drive was fast and quickly overran territory until it stopped six miles into Vietnam.

Hanoi claimed to have halted the invasion, but it appeared the Chinese halted their own drive even before Moscow's warning.

Although Vietnam has denied it has any troops in Cambodia, diplomatic observers in the area believe it had committeed about 100,000 soldiers to the offensive against the former Cambodian government, and has about 600,000 troops in the area. It is speculated that the attack Saturday by China into Vietnam was an attempt to force Vietnam to withdraw some of its forces from Cambodia where elements of the former government are still fighting.

The number of Chinese troops in Vietnam was not known. U.S. military analysts said the Chinese had amassed about 120,000 troops along the border, while the Vietnamese had about 50,000 soldiers deployed in an arc north of Hanoi.

A large portion of China's estimated 3.3 million-man army is reported to be stationed along its lengthy border with the Soviet Union.

Living Costs up 8.9%, Food Prices Fingered

OTTAWA (CP) — Higher food costs pushed the cost of living during January up to a 12-month rate of 8.9 per cent, Statistics Canada reported today.

This compares with a 12-month cost-of-living increase to December, 1978, of 8.4 per cent and moves the Canadian inflation rate nearly to the U.S. level, last reported in December to be 9.0 per cent on a 12-month basis.

Vancouver's annual cost-of-living increase was 7.7 per cent, with increased costs of restaurant meals, fresh vegetables, bread and dairy products being the main factors cited.

Food was the main budget-buster across the country. StatsCan said higher prices for fresh vegetables, bread, beef chicken and butter were mainly responsible for driving food prices up by 1.9 per cent during January.

In contrast, prices for all other items in the index — which include housing, clothing, transportation, health care and lesiure products — increased by 0.5 per cent.

Opposition spokesmen challenged the government today to probe food-price increases as a result of the StatsCan statistics.

Conservative James McGrath and New Democrat leader Ed Broadbent said the latest cost-of-living figures clearly demonstrate the ineffectiveness of the government's farm and food policies.

McGrath (St. John's East) said: "There is an immediate need for a national food strategy that will provide fair prices to consumers and fair returns to producers."

He challenged Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan and Consumer Affairs Minister Warren Allmand to announce the government's food strategy "if indeed they really have one."

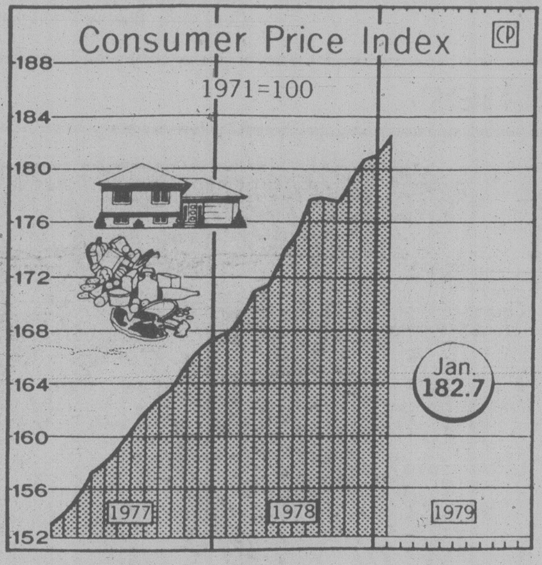
Broadbent said that unless the government acts soon, "there will be double-digit inflation in 1979." Workers could start seeking wage increases that add to inflation.

The government should reintroduce consumer subsidies on bread and dairy products which were eliminated last year.

Finance Minister Jean Chretien has repeatedly said the government is to be congratulated for keeping the inflation rate below that of the United States, even though a weak dollar makes imported goods expensive.

One dramatic example of the high cost of imports was last month's 16.1-per-cent rise in the cost of fresh vegetables.

Although food prices were the chief culprit in last month's cost-of-living increase, higher prices were also recorded for new cars, gasoline, electricity and shelter.



Year-Round Fees Urged In Province Campgrounds

The provincial parks branch has recommended to Parks Minister James Chabot that park campers pay fees year round.

Regulations at present permit the collections of fees only from April 1 to September 9.

"There is always the possibility they may go up," a parks spokesman said.

He said the proposal to charge year-round fees is the result of pressure from private campground owners.

At a meeting held in Vancouver last fall, the owners complained of unfair competition during off-season periods.

Some demanded provincial campgrounds be phased out while others asked that fees be raised.

Bruce Hardy, a director of the Victoria Sierra Club, said strong opposition from the private sector has already resulted in little or no expansion of parks branch campgrounds in the last few years.

Campgrounds are needed on the northern half of the Vancouver Island, he said.

A major campground is badly needed at Port Renfrew to cope with the growing number of people using the west coast trail.

"We are not opposed to paying campground fees as long as they are not being increased as a means of gradually phasing the sites out," Hardy said.

Robert Nixon, an executive of the Sierra B.C. chapter, said cabinet should not lose sight of low income families when it reviews the fee structure.

A government report says there are 1,437 public and private campground locations in B.C.

Private campgrounds outnumber those operated by the provincial parks branch 623 to 131.

The remainder are operated by the B.C. Forest Service.

The report also shows the private sector supplies 24,467 managed campsite units compared to 7,272 for the parks branch.

Camper use in sites operated by the government has tripled since 1961 from 600,000 camper nights to 1.8 million camper nights in 1978.

The new leader of the B.C. Liberal party isn't anxious for a quick provincial election.

Duncan high school teacher Jev Tothill, who won the leadership over Aldergrove contractor Hugh Chesley, believes the longer the seatless Liberals have, the better they will do when an election is called by Premier Bill Bennett.

Following his election at the party's weekend annual conference at the Empress Hotel, Tothill said the only place for the party to go is up.

No Oil, Gas Rationing Forecast for This Year

Times News Services

Federal Energy Minister Alastair Gillespie says Canada is in no imminent danger of fuel oil or gasoline rationing this year and perhaps not "even a year from now."

He gave these assurances Sunday after having disclosed in the Commons last week that he had learned Exxon International wanted to move to divert from Canada Venezuelan oil shipments to its Canadian affiliated company, Imperial Oil Ltd., at a planned rate of 25,000 barrels a day.

In a television interview Sunday, Gillespie said that while Canadians may not be facing a rationing situation they will be paying more for oil and gas. The higher prices will result from supply and demand pressures resulting from the drop in production coming from Iran's oil fields.

He introduced a bill into the Commons Friday authorizing the government to act to allocate supplies of oil and gas and to impose rationing if necessary.

Parliament began debating the bill today.

Gillespie said there was a possibility of the current energy situation affecting Canadians "painfully" but it was east of the Montreal refinery area that would be seriously affected.

He said by the end of this year Canada may be

Iran Pledges PLO Support

Times News Services

TEHRAN — Iran's new Islamic government ended all relations with Israel and pledged its support to the Palestinian war against the Jewish state after a weekend meeting between Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and Yasser Arafat of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Iran will "turn to the issue of victory over Israel" after it binds up the wounds of the year-long revolt that drove Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi from the country, Tehran Radio reported.

Meanwhile, Israel and Egypt sent high-level delegations to Washington today for a second round of Camp David meetings, but neither side showed any sign of conceding on the major issues blocking a Middle East Peace treaty.

Egyptian Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil, Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance were scheduled to meet Wednesday in negotiations scheduled to last four to seven days.

Iran's government radio said 22 Israeli trade and immigration officials and representatives of El Al, the Israeli airline, were expelled, and all Iranian officials in Israel were ordered home.

Arafat, the first foreign leader to visit Khomeini since he took over the government on Feb. 11, said the Iranian revolution has turned the strategic balance in the Middle East "upside down."

The final break between the new government and Israel caused concern among the thousands of Jews living in Iran, but it was not likely to have any immediate effect on Israel itself. Israel formerly got most of its oil from Iran, but all exports have been cut off since December because of strikes against the shah. The head of the last royal government, Shahpour Bakhtiar, announced in January that Israel would get no more Iranian oil after exports are resumed.

getting some oil from Mexico. It will be first delivered against an undertaking Mexico has given Canada to guarantee this country 100,000 barrels a day by the end of 1980.

In the Commons, Gillespie had sharply rebuked Canadian Imperial Oil for accepting the Exxon move to divert supplies of Venezuela oil headed for Canada. He warned the two companies that the Canadian government will not stand for such an action.

Sunday he said he was "not bluffing" adding "let's be clear about that."

"I think it is going to become very uncomfortable for Imperial Oil to operate in Canada unless Imperial Oil establishes the kind of direct contracting relatinship, dealing direct with Venezuela," he said. At present Imperial Oil deals with Venezuela through its parent company Exxon International. Canada wants Imperial to deal direct.

Gillespie said the new shortage had alerted Canadians to a situation which he had been predicting for some years. That was why he was anxious to divert Canada's dependence away from the middle east to western hemesphere sources such as Venezuela and Mexico.

He said it was also now important that the gas pipeline be extended down east. It was important to provide security of supply for Canadians.

In Montreal, The Gazette says the federal legislation goes beyond the regulation of crude oil.

SOUTH AFRICAN JETS CRASH

CAPE TOWN (AP) — Two South African Air Force jet fighters crashed in separate but related accidents east of Pretoria on Thursday, killing one of the pilots, newspaper reports said. The reports said one pilot parachuted to safety after an engine caught fire. The pilot of the second plane apparently was attempting to see where his colleague would land when his aircraft crashed into the ground.

GORGE TROUT PROJECT

Gov't Assistance For Mother Nature

By MARK HUME
Times Staff

The amazing thing about the three-pound trout Don Peterson held in his hands wasn't its beauty, but rather that it could look that way after having been hatched in a dirty little creek and raised in the polluted Gorge waterway.

"It is incredible," agree Peterson, a Fish and Wildlife Branch employee who's working on the project to restore sea-run cutthroat trout to the Gorge.

He turned the fish slightly so that the light caught its yellow sides, the pale pink aura on its gills and the clean white belly. Its back was dark green and looked speckled with tiny splashes of India ink.

Peterson slid the fish, a ripe female, into a plastic, water-filled garbage can alongside six others just like her, though smaller.

Next came a big male, slightly hooked in the upper jaw, solid to the end of his square tail.

"The females have prettier faces, but they're all beautiful fish, that's for sure," said Peterson as he slid his fingers along the belly to see if it was ready to spawn. "Of course I'm prejudiced; I've been working around them for the last six months and I can really appreciate it."

Peterson, who works in the fish culture section at the Abbotsford hatchery, is charged with producing the seed stock for the branch's Gorge project.

Other members of the branch are involved in stream rehabilitation on the Colquitz (and on the Craigflower if Victoria's city hall approves greater water storage in Thetis Lake), and in trapping the mature fish when they return to spawn.

Last Friday Peterson visited the pens that are holding the mature fish captured in the two creeks and selected those that were ready to spawn.

From a school of about 30 trout he picked out more than a dozen that were ready. From five anesthetized females he stripped an estimated 7,500 eggs, pouring the tiny orange globes into a plastic bowl. Then the males were milked.

The contents of the bowl were gently stirred and then water, the catalyst, was added. Life had begun again.

For trout in the Colquitz and Craigflower systems that has become an increasingly hard proposition in recent times. The streams have been badly degraded over the years; polluted with chemicals and other deadly agents, cluttered with old mattresses, shopping carts . . . the discards of modern society.

So the government has stepped in, to assist in what Mother Nature used to do so well all by herself.

Peterson said he was hoping for between 20,000 and 30,000 eggs from the Colquitz-Craigflower stock this year.

After the bad eggs have been weeded out and diseases of various kinds have taken their toll, the branch should have 10,000 to 15,000 smolts to release back into the system.

The young fish, air-lifted to the Mainland as fertilzed eggs, will be planted back in the streams in mid-April or early May.

Fifteen thousand trout sounds like a lot of fish, but Peterson says it's not.

"The Gorge could obviously support a lot more — but those streams, that's where we lose them."

In three to five years the sea-run cutthroat that started life in a plastic bowl on the tail gate of a pick-up truck will be nosing there way back into the Colquitz and Craigflower.

Peterson hopes that by then the two small streams that feed the Gorge will have been rehabilitated to the point where the fish can breed the way they were meant to — without the government as a go-between.

Measles Outbreak in City

A serious outbreak of rubella has hit Victoria, regional health officer Dr. Allan Arneil said today.

He said there have been 14 positive identifications in the last six weeks of the disease, also known as German measles.

Most of the cases involve young adults. Normally, two to four cases are reported each year.

Arneil said checks with virologists in Vancouver show that Victoria is the only place in the province reporting a marked increase in cases of the air-borne virus.

He said, however, this could be because doctors in the Capital Regional District are more on the alert for the disease, which has mild symptoms, such as a rash, sore throat, runny nose, headache and swollen glands.

Three of the rubella cases reported here involve pregnant young women, Arneil added.

He cautioned that women of child-bearing age should have a blood test to ascertain whether or not they are subseptible to rubella.

Arneil said that 50 per cent of children born to women who have had rubella during the first three months of pregnancy are handicapped.

If subseptible, women of child-bearing age can be immunized against rubella but once pregnant, immunization is impossible.

Burglary Rash Reported

Two youngsters caught emerging from the Bay department store over the weekend will appear in juvenile court charged with breaking and entering.

City police said the incident was one of more than a dozen burglaries and prowling incidents reported since Friday, mostly on the north side of Victoria between Gorge, Haultain and Cedar Hill.

Police responding to a reported break-in at the CBC studio construction project on Kings Road found three children aged six and eight trying to move a shopping cart they had loaded with building materials.

Merchant Vows Push On Marguerite Hours

Victoria merchant Ella Small says she will continue her campaign to get longer visiting hours in Victoria for the Princess Marguerite despite a negative response to the idea from Tourism Minister Elwood Veitch.

She said she has phoned dozens of local businesses and most support her campaign.

Small made her comments in the wake of an announcement by Veitch that the Marguerite will start her Victoria-Seattle run May 1, 18 days earlier than normal. Veitch said destruction to the Hood Canal bridge by a storm last week created a need for the earlier start.

Small wants the Marguerite to stay in Victoria until 5:30 p.m. daily instead of returning to Seattle at 4:30 p.m.

That extra hour, she said, would have a significant impact on Victoria business.

Until 1975 the Marguerite left Victoria at 5:35 p.m. Arrival time has always been 12:30 p.m.

In response to a letter from Mrs. Small, Veitch wrote back that it is not possible to extend the Marguerite's hours.

"The extended hours of the crew and the customs officals at the dock in Seattle would be expensive," Veitch said.

"We had a great deal of criticism and a lot of people cancelled because of the extremely long day made by returning to Seattle well past 10 p.m. The time of the return now seems to be ideal — with dinner being served on board and docking in Seattle between 8 and 9 p.m.

"As you know, we had a record year for the Princess Marguerite in 1978 and the new hours are part of the reason for the success," Veitch wrote.

Mrs. Small said tourists often complain that they no sooner get downtown than it is time to return to the Marguerite.

Boozy Break-In Charged

Saanich police charged a 24-year-old man with breaking, entering and theft after the Borden Street liquor store was smashed open early Saturday.

Gustav Frederick Thorsell, 444 Vincent, elected trial before a judge and was remanded to June 29 for a preliminary hearing.

A witness told police two men were seen leaving the building with bottles of liquor after the front door was kicked in.

Nearby, police found a house party in progress and siezed several bottles of wine, liquor and beer.

But Still No Island Highway Bypass

THE ISLAND HIGHWAY, sorry old beast that it is, has limped along year after year with minimum attention. Once in a long while, a work crew has flung a shovelful of blacktop into the permanent pothole between our place and Nick's next door. They've got around to building a new Black Creek bridge, which is good, and put in a disastrously dangerous passing lane just north of Oyster River, which is very bad indeed.

What we burghers strung out on either side of the highway from Courtenay to Campbell River want is a bypass between the two towns — one that would take much of the appallingly heavy traffic load which the existing highway carries.

Talk of that bypass has been blowing in the wind for years. Its right-of-way, we hear, has been surveyed well inland, and most of the property needed for it acquired by the highways people.

When we learned last year that the highways department was eyeing our communications link, our hopes spired. At last, we thought, they'll get around to the bypass.

Then a matter of weeks ago, a concerned up-Islander made public a letter received from Highways Minister Alex Fraser.

"Final decisions have not yet been made," the letter read in part, "but it does look as though the most appropriate solution, considering all factors, is to widen the highway."

This was precisely the under-informed, slipshod and trouble-making decision we'd dreaded. Widening the present highway, which we took to mean four-laning it either all of a piece or in stages, would be the equivalent of putting a pig on skis.

The plain fact is that there's simply not room for a four-laner along the present cluttered Island Highway route. And even if it could be achieved, at a grim cost in expropriations and dislocations, it would merely compound the dangers of the present killer-route.

What better guarantee of more blood on the blacktop than four fast lanes intruded upon by 45 points of entry each mile?

There are other factors, at least one of which Campbell River has finally and uneasily become aware. A four-lane highway whistling through that already badly-split town like a dose of salts would be absolutely no help to the stop-and-shop tourism upon which Campbell River depends for a healthy share of its income.

With all this sizzling in our craws, we turned out about 70 strong for a confrontation with the minister, who had come north on the invitation of local Social Crediters to attend a dinner at Campbell River's Haida Inn.

Our reception, for which I must grant in fairness that Fraser wasn't responsible, did nothing to improve our tempers.

First, the plane carrying the minister arrived late. He sat down to dinner at approximately the time pre-set for our meeting with him.

The Inn management didn't help matters either, by failing to provide us with a sufficiency of folding chairs. While the minister worked his way from soup through dessert in good appetite, we were left to stand shifting from one foot to the other.

Finally we were taken notice of. The questions began to fly.

Fraser firmly disclaimed any intention to four-lane the highway. What was planned, he said, was to install "three or maybe four" passing lanes between Courtenay and Campbell River as a traffic easement.

But what about the bypass?

It became plain from the minister's words that the bypass must remain pie in the sky, although he would naturally report the feeling of the meeting to his highways department engineers.

It was all distressingly like pounding a feather-stuffed pillow, and I came away from the session with a gloomy feeling that in terms of our particular highway, the minister didn't know which way was up.

As a sunshine kid, I would dearly like to end this report on an up-beat. But under the circumstances, that doesn't seem indicated. In fact, unless a miracle akin to the one that struck St. Paul on the Damascus road overtakes Alex Fraser, our highway situation can only go from bad to worse.

Municipalities Lash Out At Vander Zalm

Recent criticism of B.C. municipalities by the provincial government and government interference in their financial and planning autonomy were attacked at a weekend conference in Esquimalt.

Delegates to the annual meeting of the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities (AVIM) were told that rebukes from Municipal Affairs Minister William Vander Zalm were an attempt to "take the pressure off the provincial government and put it on to local government."

The charge came from Abbotsford Mayor George Ferguson, this year's president of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, who said municipalities and regional districts "can no longer ignore the many statements coming from the minister."

In the past six weeks, Ferguson noted, municipalities have had their mill rates frozen, a five per cent budget increase ceiling imposed, criticism about surpluses and reserves, and hints that council indemnities will be controlled.

"He (the minister) criticizes the salaries we pay our senior staffs; he has been pretty rough on regional districts; he tells us welfare costs are being decreased when in fact they are going up, and now he is wanting to develop uniform subdivision and zoning standards, and to speed up the development approval process."

On the question of municipal surpluses, Ferguson said sarcastically that when the province shows a $145 million surplus it is good management, but when municipalities accumulate a modest surplus from good management it is termed a hoarding of taxpayers' dollars.

On the budget controls, he pointed out that last year the average municipal budget rose about seven per cent over 1977 while in the same period the provincial government's budget rose more than nine per cent.

"Does the provincial government intend to adopt the same restraint attitude against itself?" he added.

Ferguson said municipal salaries should be a matter for individual councils to determine, and he believes senior municipal staff salaries are in line with those paid in the public and private sectors.

As for Vander Zalm's complaint last week about the delays involved in obtaining development approval, he said, "we are not all as bad as the minister makes out.

"Obviously land developers who do not get their way have been crying on someone's shoulder," he added.

Port Alberni Ald. Goerge McKnight said in an interview Ferguson expressed the feelings of many municipal councils which have been angered by Vander Zalm's sniping attacks.

AVIM officers elected for 1979 were:

Comox Mayor George Piercy, president.

Victoria Ald. Murray Glazier, first vice-president.

Refrigerator May Hold Key To Your Life

The program, called Vial of Life, comes here following successful pilot projects in New Westminster and the U.S.

The idea of the program is to assemble in the home — specifically on and in refrigerators — important health care information ambulance attendants should know during emergencies.

Proper care is more easily provided if attendants are aware of the patient's medical history. Paramedic units have the equipment and skills to give medication during an emergency, but too often find the patient unconcious with no medical background or identification.

Vial of life kits supplied by the union included a plastic container, information sheet and decal. Medical histories are inserted in the vial which is placed in the refrigerator. The decal is attached to the fridge door to tell ambulance crews the information is inside.

The fridge is the perfect place to keep medical records because every home has one and it can be located quickly during an emergency.

Groups interested in helping distribute the kits should contact the Ambulance Employees Union Vial of Life, P.O. Box 5062, Victoria, B.C., V8R 6N3.

Numac Oil and Gas was down ⅝ to $29½, Total Petroleum North America ⅜ to $21½ and Sceptre Resources ⅜ to $9. PanCanadian Petroleums was up ¼ to $44 and Skye Resources Ltd. ¼ to $7.

Montreal

Prices posted fractional advances in moderate noon-time trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange today.

Volume at 11 a.m. EST was 168,193, compared with the 110,707 shares traded up to the same time Friday.

The composite index gained 0.01 to 235.11, industrials 0.12 to 232.57 and utilities 0.02 to 200.10. Papers fell 0.61 to 155.49 and banks 0.72 to 310.14.

Abitibi Papers lost ¼ at $17½, Toronto Dominion ⅛ at $21¾ and West Coast Transmission ⅛ at $13⅜.

Trading as active in the rights shares of Bank of Nova Scotia as it remained unchanged at 35 cents on a volume of 23,000 shres traded.

Among speculative issues, Nocana Ltd. gained three cents at $1.75 on a volume of 6,200 shares traded.

London

The Financial Times index of 30 industrials closed at 460.3, up 5.0.

Industrials were the biggest gainers, as higher yield considerations spurred buying. Dealers said the firmness of sterling and the likelihood of stable interest rates helped sentiment.

Canadian stocks eased.

HIGH PROSPECT FOR PLASTICS

TORONTO (CP) — Most Canadian plastics processors and resin suppliers expect a sales increase of more than 10 per cent this year, a survey by the Society of the Plastics Industry of Canada shows.

The survey says 53 per cent of processors and 70 per cent of resin suppliers surveyed predicted sales will rise more than 10 per cent in 1979. The remainder expect an increase of three to 10 per cent.

Last year was more profitable than expected with 59 per cent of processors and 70 per cent of suppliers realizing a sales increase of more than 10 per cent.

In line with higher sales, profits also rose last year for 69 per cent of the processors and 60 per cent of the suppliers.

A price increase instituted by almost three-quarters of the processors and suppliers was partially responsible for increased sales and profits in 1978.

The industry expects to increase prices by at least three per cent in 1980 to offset increased costs for raw materials.

The survey indicates that wage increases will remain moderate with almost all firms predicting increases of less than 10 per cent.
